【授業の進め方と方法】

This course is conducted in a classroom. However, in cases where students cannot enter Japan, the course will take the hybrid-flexible form (HyFlex, which is in-person lectures in parallel with online real-time). Students who cannot enter Japan attend lectures online. Each session consists of lecture and discussion. Lecture introduces students to basic concepts and frameworks. Discussion and in-class exercises with regard to the concepts and frameworks, as well as case analysis, will be conducted.

In addition, students work on a team project during the semester. A team consists of 3-4 students. The number of team members may vary depending on the number of registered students. Teams are required to conduct a team project. Each team member writes up a term paper based on the team project. In week 14, teams will make a presentation of the project. ## 【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Many students are familiar with the Toyota Production System but fewer are aware it is part of the broader business function of operations management (OM). OM is the process of transforming inputs (raw materials, information) into valued-added outputs (goods and services)—in short, the procurement, assembly and distribution of goods as well as services.

In this connection, the main objective of this introductory OM course is for students to develop a functional understanding of the main concepts and methods informing the subject of OM. Furthermore, special attention will be paid to comparing a Japanese monozukuri approach with other countries. This introduction will then form the foundation for the OMI and OMII courses.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course the students should be able to:

- ・ Understand the 3 broad areas of OM: strategic, tactical and operational
  - ・ Explain the OM concepts, principles and methods in each of these 3 areas
  - ・ Acquire critical thinking skills in analyzing the main issues in OM
- The acquisition of these skills will be demonstrated through class/group work participation, assignments and reports/presentations.

THE BEST CLASSROOMS DO NOT HAVE FOUR WALLS: LEARNING TAKES PLACE ANYWHERE, ANY TIME. IN YOUR CLASSROOM, THEN, I WILL EXPECT YOU TO CONDUCT THREE ACTIVITIES. FIRST, PLEASE LOG-IN TO OUR COURSE HOPPII WEBPAGE TO FIND THE REQUIRED READING (1-3 PER WEEK). SECOND, ALSO IN OUR COURSE HOPPII WEBPAGE WILL BE A SET OF EXERCISES/ASSIGNMENTS TO DEMONSTRATE YOU COMPREHEND THE SESSION LEARNING POINTS. AND THIRD, WRITE 3 SHORT REPORTS. PLEASE KEEP TO THE STATED DEADLINES.

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

A derivative, or derivative security is an agreement between two counterparties whose payoff depends on the value of an underlying asset. Forwards, futures, options, and swaps are representative derivatives. Derivatives are actively traded throughout the world and their market is exceedingly large. Unexpectedly, derivatives also have a long history. This course aims to help students understand the basic aspects of derivative securities and how to value them. Comprehension of derivatives will come in very useful in case you work in the financial industry in the future. Due to time constraints, swaps will be discussed only if we get ahead of schedule.

【到達目標】

Upon completing this course, students will be able to

- 1) understand the characteristics of derivatives.
- 2) understand how forwards are valued.
- 3) understand how futures are valued.
- 4) understand how call and put options are valued.
- 5) solidify an understanding of business and economic news about financial markets.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course aims at deepening our understandings of retail and distribution system in Japan. At the end of this course, you'll have acquired hands-on knowledge on (1) the social roles of the distribution system, (2) idiosyncrasies and historical development of the Japanese retailing and distribution system and (3) some of the critical and contemporary issues surrounding retailing and distribution trades in Japan today.

【到達目標】

Through participating in this course, students are expected to acquire fundamental knowledge on various types of distribution channels as well as the social roles that the distribution system plays in a given socio-cultural and economic setting. Students are also given opportunities to compare the distribution system in his / her own country with its Japanese counterpart, making use of related statistics and other secondary sources, together with some fieldworks and case-based discussions. Course assignments are designed in a way that students can develop their interests in those retailers that represent the Japanese distribution today.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

How did the “Made in Japan” image change from shoddy goods in the immediate post-war period to its high quality image today? In answering this question, the focus in Operations Management I is on the role of monozukuri: “making things.” It is important to emphasize monozukuri lies not in the product and the service itself, but in the design process. This process consists of “design information” aimed at “delighting customers” (product development), transcribing it on a “product architecture” (production) and transmitting this “sensory experience” to customers (marketing and sales). Fujimoto (2004) argues this is the key to a Japanese style of manufacturing. Consequently the main objective of this course is to deepen the students' understanding of these three aspects of the monozukuri process through case studies. In the first part, we begin with merging the “voice of the customer” with a company's “intrinsic technology” in new product/service design. In the second part, we will translate these needs and capabilities into operations processes in not only the manufacturing sector, but also the services sector. In the third part, we will examine the information systems underlying a company's supply chain. These “evolving deep layers in the design process of Japanese companies provide a window for analysing the current status of monozukuri as well as its possible future evolution.

【到達目標】

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- ・ Read and write a case study.
- ・ THEORY: Understand the key concepts and principles constituting monozukuri.
- ・ METHODS: Apply the basic approaches guiding the monozukuri design process. In this connection, students will learn how to read and write a case study.
- ・ TOOLS: Use selected problem-solving techniques in pursuing monozukuri.

These are some of the components of critical thinking so we can begin to “speak with facts and not by guts.”

【授業の進め方と方法】

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc. In this course we will learn and use the case study method.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Managing the flow of goods, people, money and information across national borders has become the new challenge for operations managers. So what if you are requested to evaluate and improve the operations management at a local company going global, how would you go about doing it? The traditional operations management answer is to focus on cost and speed issues; but in the 21st century, operations managers must also effectively respond to the challenges presented by globalization, sustainability, ethical conduct, effective communication, and system design. Doing this calls for operations managers to excel in the business, technical, and interpersonal aspects of their work as they actively support the mission and vision of their organization. In addressing these issues, the main objective of this course is to leverage the principles learned in the Introduction to Operations Management course and the tools/methods learned in Operations Management I course, to develop a PROJECT, selected by the students, that is applicable in the real world.

【到達目標】

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

・ TEAMWORK: Understand the skills necessary to cooperate and coordinate an international Project.

・ PROJECT MANAGEMENT: Design and implement project-based operations management activities within a company and/or across national borders. In this connection, students will learn how to draft a Plan Design Matrix and related documents.

・ MANAGEMENT: Appreciate the emerging challenges faced by operations managers in a global economy.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Macroeconomics focuses at the national level, examining the determination of important national variables, such as GDP, the rate of inflation, the level of unemployment, as well as flows of imports and exports and the balance of trade. Course participants will also understand the mechanisms for government policies to improve or hinder economic performance at the macroeconomic level.

【到達目標】

This course is an introduction to the field of macroeconomics. It will give you the fundamental idea of the range of behaviors that economists investigate, introduce you to the basic tools that we use to analyze the economy, and apply these tools to government policy issues. Most importantly, this course will introduce you to the "economic way of thinking," an approach to decision making that applies to personal decisions.

回	テーマ	内容
Class 1	Introduction	Course Overview (Class Objectives, Goals etc).
Class 2	Measuring a Nation's Income	The purpose of this lecture is to provide students with an understanding of the measurement and the use of gross domestic product (GDP). GDP is the single most important measure of the health of the macroeconomy. Indeed, it is the most widely reported statistic in every developed economy.
Class 3	Measuring the Cost of Living	The purpose of this lecture is twofold: first, to show students how to generate a price index and, second, to teach them how to employ a price index to compare dollar figures from different points in time and to adjust interest rates for inflation. In addition, students will learn some of the shortcomings of using the consumer price index as a measure of the cost of living.
Class 4	Production and Growth	The purpose of this lecture is to examine the long-run determinants of both the level and the growth rate of real GDP per person. Along the way, we will discover the factors that determine the productivity of workers and address what governments might do to improve the productivity of their citizens.

Class 5	Saving, Investment, and the Financial System	The purpose of this lecture is to show how saving and investment are coordinated by the loanable funds market. Within the framework of the loanable funds market, we are able to see the effects of taxes and government deficits on saving, investment, the accumulation of capital, and ultimately, the growth rate of output.	Class 14	The Influence of Monetary and Fiscal Policy on Aggregate Demand	The purpose of this lecture to address the short-run effects of monetary and fiscal policies. In Chapter 33, we found that when aggregate demand or short-run aggregate supply shifts, it causes fluctuations in output. As a result, policymakers sometimes try to offset these shifts by shifting aggregate demand with monetary and fiscal policy. Chapter 34 addresses the theory behind these policies and some of the shortcomings of stabilization policy.
Class 6	The Basic Tools of Finance	The purpose of this lecture is to introduce the students to some tools that people use when they participate in financial markets. We will show how people compare different sums of money at different points in time, how they manage risk, and how these concepts combine to help determine the value of a financial asset, such as a share of stock.	【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】 Students are required to read the course textbook and supplementary materials before class. Class 7	The Monetary System	The purpose of this lecture is to help students develop an understanding of what money is, what forms money takes, how the banking system helps create money, and how the Federal Reserve controls the quantity of money. An understanding of money is important because the quantity of money affects inflation and interest rates in the long run, and production and employment in the short run.
Class 8	Money Growth and Inflation	The purpose of this lecture is acquaint students with the causes and costs of inflation. Students will find that, in the long run, there is a strong relationship between the growth rate of money and inflation. Students will also find that there are numerous costs to the economy from high inflation, but that there is not a consensus on the importance of these costs when inflation is moderate.
Class 9	Open-Economy Macroeconomics: Basic Concepts	The purpose of this lecture is to develop the basic concepts macroeconomists use to study open economies. It addresses why a nation's net exports must equal its net capital outflow. It also addresses the concepts of the real and nominal exchange rate and develops a theory of exchange rate determination known as purchasing-power parity.
Class 10	A Macroeconomic Theory of Open Economy I	The purpose of this lecture is to establish the interdependence of a number of economic variables in an open economy.
Class 11	A Macroeconomic Theory of Open Economy II	This lecture demonstrates the relationships between the prices and quantities in the market for loanable funds and the prices and quantities in the market for foreign-currency exchange. Using these markets, we can analyze the impact of a variety of government policies on an economy's exchange rate and trade balance.
Class 12	Aggregate Demand and Aggregate Supply I	The purpose of this lecture is to develop the model economists use to analyze the economy's short-run fluctuations — the model of aggregate demand and aggregate supply. Students will learn about some of the sources for shifts in the aggregate-demand curve and the aggregate-supply curve and how these shifts can cause recessions.
Class 13	Aggregate Demand and Aggregate Supply II	Based on the lecture of Class 13, this lecture introduces actions policymakers might undertake to offset recessions.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

In this course we will address the question, What is Total Quality Management? The origins of this concept dates back to the 1930s at the Bell Laboratories of W.A. Shewhart in the United Kingdom. This became what was known as the British Standard 600. During the war years, the Americans established the Z-1 Standard. In the post-war era, Japan created not only the JIS (Japan Industrial Standards) mark, but also added a managerial dimension to the quality control concept. In this connection, the main objective this semester focuses on the unique contributions of Japanese companies to TQM: (1) QC (quality control) as a national movement, (2) companywide quality control, (3) cross-functional management, (4) QC circle activities, and (5) QC audit.

【到達目標】

Be the end of the course the student should be able to:

- Understand why total quality management plays an important role in business.
  - THEORY: Grasp the merging of engineering techniques and business practices into the TQM story
  - METHODS: Use the PDCA cycle and kaizen for continuous improvement
  - TOOLS: Apply the analytical tools commonly used in TQM activities.
- Students should feel comfortable in engaging in TQM activities if given the opportunity in the future.

【授業の進め方と方法】

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc. In this course, particular attention is paid to an experiential learning approach where students plan and do, then check and reflect on their Projects. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Traditionally, the answer to the question "What is the purpose of a company?" is simply "to make an economic profit." Throughout the late 20th century NGO (non-government organizations) and other stakeholders have put pressure on companies to assume a greater social and environmental responsibility. Now in the 21st century, as companies move overseas to developing countries, companies are facing demands to contribute to national economic development. The rise of a new type of company, the social enterprise, is an attempt to address these broadening business demands.

The main objective of this course is to introduce students to this alternative way to conduct international business, especially in developing countries. In addition, students will learn how to write their own business plan for implementing a social enterprise.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- ・ Understand the role of social enterprises in a national economy
- ・ THEORY: Comprehend the key research from BoP to SE
- ・ METHOD: Develop and write each element of a business plan
- ・ TOOLS: Apply the problem solving tools required to understand the business environment and company strategy

【授業の進め方と方法】

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course will provide an introduction to the culture and society of contemporary Britain. Students will acquire knowledge about Britain: its geography, climate, history, traditional culture, religion, political system, society, Britishness, and so on. The course will survey British society following globalization after Thatcher's government. Britain in the 70's was a nightmare, economically crippled, politically in a quagmire, and yet culturally vibrant. Thatcher, as prime minister (1979-1990), changed Britain drastically in the 80's. She insisted on free enterprise and deregulation, employed monetarist policies, privatized nationalized industries, passed legislations to weaken trade unions' political power, and was tenaciously skeptical about the deepening of European integration. However, socially, she was conservative and put an emphasis on the importance of traditional family, a self-help work ethic and community. Whether her policies worked well or not is still in discussion, but she is commonly thought to have prepared the way for globalisation, economic success, and the rise of so-called Cool Britannia. Political issues are often related to nation, religion, immigration, ethnicity, class, globalisation, gender, youth culture, and so on.

With UK as a case theme, we also understand the diversity of cultures around the world and the significance of enhancing communication with people from other cultural backgrounds.

【到達目標】

Students will (1) acquire the general knowledge of the society and people in contemporary Britain, (2) learn how one of the most globalized nations has gone through the changes, and (3) think about the new realities and the implications of the changes. By comparing the situations in Britain and Japan, students will gain clearer perspectives on complex issues common in the most advanced and affluent countries.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

What is world literature? Why do some books become global bestsellers while others are deemed untranslatable? How does literature relate to other forms of art such as movies or music? This course will introduce the fundamental issues of modern comparative literary studies, including national canons, world literature, translation, and adaptation. We will discuss how comparing works with other texts across genres, languages, time periods, or forms of media can give us a fuller understanding of not only the text itself, but also how systems of literature combine to influence our impression of the text.

【到達目標】

Students will practice critical reading and writing while learning the basic approaches used in comparative literary studies. Students will examine the historical development of comparative literature as a field while utilizing comparative methodology to read and respond to selected texts.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course examines the social, political, and cultural forces that shape the canon of Japanese literature available in English translation. In particular, we will focus on translations published in the United States in the postwar period. How did publishers determine which authors to introduce to an American audience, and how did those choices influence our image of Japanese literature in Japan, the US, and globally?

【到達目標】

Students will think critically about the discourses of translation, publication, and world literature. Students will also develop critical reading and writing skills through class assignments.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This is an introductory course in social psychology, the scientific study of how we view and influence one another. Students are introduced to the theories, research methods, and seminal findings of social psychology. Social Psychology I will primarily focus on how we think about the social world, how we come to understand others, and how we exert influence on others' thoughts, feelings, and behaviors. Topics include perceptions of others and the self, attitudes, conformity, obedience, and persuasion. Social Psychology II will focus on social relations and intergroup dynamics, covering topics such as helping and aggression, group influence, self, emotion, and prejudice. These two courses will complement each other to provide an overview of the main content areas of social psychology.

【到達目標】

This course will introduce students to the perspectives, research methods, and empirical findings in the field of social psychology and cultivate skills in analyzing the social situations and events that we encounter in our everyday lives. By the end of the course, students will be able to (1) identify and understand major theories, principles, and research findings in the field of social psychology, (2) apply social psychological theories and principles to real life experiences, and (3) critically evaluate social psychological theories and research. In Social Psychology I, students will be able to answer the following questions: How are we influenced by our environment and by other people? How do we explain others' behavior? What are attitudes and how do they affect us? What leads to conformity and obedience? When are people persuaded by differing opinions and when are they not?

【授業の進め方と方法】

Methods of instruction include lectures, films, individual and small group activities, and discussions. Students will engage in various hands-on activities and experiments to experience the concepts they learn in class. ## 【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The goal of this course is to introduce the students to various quantitative research methods used in the social sciences. When making important decisions, be it choosing a strategy to increase the sales of a product, implementing an intervention program to boost people's well-being, or selecting a school program to increase students' learning, people can rely on their intuition and experience, or they can base their decisions on facts: data. In this course, students will develop skills to obtain valid and reliable data through experimental and survey methods. The course will also cover topics related to research ethics, some basic statistics, and APA-style writing.

【到達目標】

This course provides an overview of the 'how's and 'why's of quantitative research in social sciences, and it covers such topics as design, ethics, and APA-style writing and such strategies as field experiments and surveys. Students will develop the ability to design, conduct, evaluate, and report empirical studies. By developing hypotheses and critically assessing information, students will improve on their critical thinking skills.

【この授業を履修することで学部等のディプロマポリシーに示されたどの能力を習得することができるか（該当授業科目と学位授与方針に明示された学習成果との関連）】

【授業の進め方と方法】

The course consists of lectures, in which general ideas and methods of research will be presented, and hands-on applications of the methods, in which student's research projects will be planned and presented. Although some of the class time will be set aside for planning students' research, the majority of it will be done as assignments to be completed outside class. Feedback for research will be given during class time. Comments for papers will be given via the Learning Management System.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

Students will have to complete the assigned homework on time to successfully complete the class. They will be asked to do the readings, create research materials, collect data, etc. outside the class. Please bear in mind that the course will require that students spend a considerable amount of time outside class (at least 2 hours every week, sometimes more). Most work will be done in small groups, suggesting that students need to be flexible in finding time to meet other students during the week. Preparatory study and review time for this class are 2 hours each.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The ratio of native to non-native users of English in the world is roughly estimated to be 1:3. However, it was only towards the turn of the century that sociolinguists/applied linguists took a keen interest in the expanding use of English as a lingua franca (ELF), which is due to the globalisation in all aspects of society, including mass media and pop culture. Arguably, some Expanding Circle countries, where English does not have an official language status, have recently overshadowed the Outer Circle ones in proficiency and frequency of use.

The former part of the course observes how extensively English is used in international contexts, mainly among non-native speakers, while analysing phonetically examples of L2-accented speech. It also refers to the limitations in the traditional models of the World English(es) put forward by B. Kachru and other scholars. The latter half discusses native-speakerism, bilingualism and native-speakerism, all of which exert a significant influence on pedagogical practices, and suggests how these notions could/should be modified from the perspective of ELF. The course is concluded with an analysis of status and function of English in present-day Japan.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology and concepts in ELF and World English(es),
- (2) have an awareness of the wider use of English in non-native speaking contexts, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for linguistic research.

Based on a flipped learning model, students have to read chapter handouts and address questions asked there prior to attending each lecture. Submitted assignments and tests are reviewed in detail and commented on in the following week's lecture. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The ratio of native to non-native users of English in the world is roughly estimated to be 1:3. However, it was only towards the turn of the century that sociolinguists/applied linguists took a keen interest in the expanding use of English as a lingua franca (ELF), which is due to the globalisation in all aspects of society, including mass media and pop culture. Arguably, some Expanding Circle countries, where English does not have an official language status, have recently overshadowed the Outer Circle ones in proficiency and frequency of use.

The former part of the course observes how extensively English is used in international contexts, mainly among non-native speakers, while analysing phonetically examples of L2-accented speech. It also refers to the limitations in the traditional models of the World English(es) put forward by B. Kachru and other scholars. The latter half discusses native-speakerism, bilingualism and native-speakerism, all of which exert a significant influence on pedagogical practices, and suggests how these notions could/should be modified from the perspective of ELF. The course is concluded with an analysis of status and function of English in present-day Japan.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology and concepts in ELF and World English(es),
- (2) have an awareness of the wider use of English in non-native speaking contexts, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for linguistic research.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Southern literature is perhaps the best-known regional literature of the United States, featuring voices, genres, and motifs specific to its distinct tradition. But it is far from a monolith, and the literature of the south reflects the diverse cultures, peoples, and languages of the region. Southern literature has often given a sharp focus to social, historical, and cultural issues of the United States, serving as a grim counterpoint to more optimistic national mythmaking. This course will focus on southern literature in the twentieth century, exploring how writers respond to questions of war, race, memory, class, and modernization.

【到達目標】

Students will examine the historical context and major themes of southern literature. Students will also develop critical reading and writing skills.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

How do we process the experience of encountering a new language and culture? How does that process in turn affect our own personal language and identity? In this course, we will read translations of personal essays and fiction written in the Japanese language by contemporary authors undergoing such experiences, including Japanese authors living abroad and non-Japanese authors writing in their adopted language. As we compare their stories and observations, we will also consider how the act of writing provides each author with a space to form and perform new cultural identities and personal idioms.

【到達目標】

Students will practice reading and writing critically as they explore dynamics of culture, language, and identity in modern Japanese literature.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

How does a good short story create an emotional reaction in the reader? How can we learn to use those techniques in our own writing? In this workshop-based course, students will be introduced to the basic skills, tools, and theory of short narrative prose writing, both through reading short stories and composing and editing an original piece of writing over the course of the semester. We will focus on fundamental elements of traditional short fiction, such as characters, dialogue, and narrative viewpoint. Students will also learn about the processes of planning, composing, editing, and revision. This course is designed for varying levels of English ability and writing ability, and will include special emphasis on the composition of fiction in a second language.

【到達目標】

Students will learn and apply the fundamental techniques of writing short stories. Students will also become more critical readers by developing an awareness of the technical elements of prose writing.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course introduces the perspectives and major research findings of cultural psychology. The course will introduce general theories and perspectives underlying cultural psychology, explore cultural influences on a wide range of psychological processes, including socialization, self-concept, motivation, emotion, and cognition. The course will also explain the mechanisms underlying cultural differences and examine the process of acculturation and biculturalism in an increasingly diverse world. Throughout this course, students will learn how culture shapes the way we think and behave and how we, at the same time, shape these cultures.

【到達目標】

One of the aims of this course is to introduce students to the perspectives, research methods, and findings of cultural psychology. Another equally important aim of this course is cultivating students' abilities to understand and deal with variations in psychological processes across cultural and ethnic groups, as well as to gain an understanding of the cultural groundings of their own experiences and actions. By the end of this course, students will be able to demonstrate understanding of how cultural systems influence individuals' psychological processing, including development, self-concepts, motivation, emotion, and cognition. They will also be able to critically engage and analyze cultural products, such as books, films, and advertisements.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

No language has ever been so extensively used on Earth as English is today. However, the language, spoken by well over 400 million people as a mother tongue, has developed a wide range of variations due to regional and social factors. This course aims to survey the phonetic, lexical and syntactic features of some varieties of standard English in the UK, North America and Australasia, with frequent reference to their historical and cultural backgrounds. Special attention is paid to Australian and NZ English, considering the increased significance of the southern hemisphere countries in business and education. It is often predicted that L2 speakers of English in Asia alone will likely outnumber monolingual English speakers of the Inner Circle within this century. Mention is made of Singapore English as an example of New Englishes.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) better understand the richness and diversity of the English language,
- (2) get familiar with the IPA vowel and consonant charts,
- (3) be able to identify major English accents in the world, and
- (4) become more familiar with the lexical/syntactic features of Canadian, Australian and NZ English in particular.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This class sees our society through the lens of race, class and gender to understand how privilege and inequality are produced, maintained, naturalized and challenged. The course will look at how various inequalities are connected to one another through examining global, national and local issues. Students will learn to analyze how race, class, gender, and sexuality are connected to each other as intersecting inequalities in a society and the world, and on that basis, consider the possibility of an equal but diverse world.

【到達目標】

Through lectures, discussion and written assignments, students will learn concepts and theories to analyze how race, class, gender and sexuality affect individuals and society. They will learn to apply these analytical tools and knowledge to form critical opinions on current issues related to various bases of inequalities. ## 【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course provides students with a basic knowledge of sociolinguistics, the study of language in relation to society. The first part of the course is concerned with how individual language use is correlated with a variety of social variables, such as gender, age, class and ethnicity, by outlining a number of previous studies conducted in the English-speaking world. Particular reference is made to the classic research of William Labov, one of the founding figures of quantitative sociolinguistics.

Later lectures focus on how and where a language or dialect is socially placed and ranked within a community, including multi-lingual/dialectal countries such as Singapore. Students who are or are becoming bilingual will find the discussion on bilingualism especially interesting when they learn that its implications not merely vary from one society to another, but have been significantly changing recently. Another major topic is language attitudes. They are not based on purely linguistic considerations, but connected with how people perceive different dialects or accents.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology, concepts and theories in sociolinguistics,
- (2) have an awareness of ongoing language changes in society, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for sociolinguistic analysis.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course provides students with a basic knowledge of sociolinguistics, the study of language in relation to society. The first part of the course is concerned with how individual language use is correlated with a variety of social variables, such as gender, age, class and ethnicity, by outlining a number of previous studies conducted in the English-speaking world. Particular reference is made to the classic research of William Labov, one of the founding figures of quantitative sociolinguistics.

Later lectures focus on how and where a language or dialect is socially placed and ranked within a community, including multi-lingual/dialectal countries such as Singapore. Students who are or are becoming bilingual will find the discussion on bilingualism especially interesting when they learn that its implications not merely vary from one society to another, but have been significantly changing recently. Another major topic is language attitudes. They are not based on purely linguistic considerations, but connected with how people perceive different dialects or accents.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology, concepts and theories in sociolinguistics,
- (2) have an awareness of ongoing language changes in society, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for sociolinguistic analysis.

Based on a flipped learning model, students have to read chapter handouts and address questions asked there prior to attending each lecture. Submitted assignments and tests are reviewed in detail and commented on in the following week's lecture.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This class builds on what students have learned in Race, Class and Gender I to look at how inequalities are inter-connected through examining various global issues. Students will learn to analyze how race, class, gender, and sexuality are connected to each other as intersecting inequalities in a society and the world, and on that basis, consider the possibility of an equal but diverse world.

【到達目標】

A major goal is to develop students' sensitivity towards issues of inequality and skills in social analysis and critical thinking. By exploring issues related to family, employment, violence, prostitution, and human and sex trafficking, in an international and global context, students will learn to see how any global issue is multidimensional, and specifically, how inequalities are complex and constituted by the interconnection of race, class, gender, sexuality, and other bases of inequality.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course is an introduction to econometrics for the IGESS students who major or minor in economics. Econometrics is a set of research tools employed in a wide range of disciplines. Most economists do empirical research for their professional service. We rigorously study three fundamental components of econometrics: they are estimation, hypothesis test, and prediction.

【到達目標】

Students will learn estimation, hypothesis test, and prediction.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

People often think that "philosophy" is quite an old subject – and very difficult, unfortunately. It is true that philosophical questions have been discussed in rather complicated and often confusing manners since many years ago, for example, by Socrates and Aristotle in the ancient Greek period. But many philosophers believe that these questions are tightly related to our everyday life. We are surrounded by many philosophical issues, though we may not always be aware of their philosophical significances; that is, philosophical issues are basically our everyday issues. But how are they related to our life?

In this course, you will discuss various philosophical topics, their in-depth meanings, and their philosophical significances, trying to find their very relevance to your life. That may help you see your surroundings, your society and the world in quite exciting and interesting ways. Out of many philosophical topics found in our daily life, we will discuss 13 topics in class.

【到達目標】

This course provides a broad introduction to philosophical ways of thinking. The course is open to students from any disciplines, who hope to:

- (1) understand some of the most fundamental philosophical topics (for instance: freedom, truth, and moral rightness /wrongness),
- (2) be able to explain the issues in very simple everyday terms, and
- (3) apply philosophical ways of thinking (reasoning) on every-day issues.

【授業の進め方と方法】

On enrollment:

The student enrollment in this course is limited to 20, and you will be admitted on a first-come and first-served basis. So, if you wish to take this course, you need to take an immediate action and do the following:

(1) You have to send me an e-mail (to the address below) expressing your intention to enroll:

yasushi.ishida.85@hosei.ac.jp

(2) When you are accepted to the class, you will receive a note (e-mail) of confirmation. If you are not accepted, you will be put on the waiting list in the order of application.

(3) Those who have received my note of confirmation can go through a procedure of 本登録.

・You will be accepted on a first-come and first-served basis. Equally importantly, I urge you to attend the first and/or second meeting.

In case you fail to attend both of them, that will affect your final grade (10%); if you have legitimate or good reason to miss the meetings, do not fail to contact me by e-mail.

・Those who are put on the waiting list can register, ONLY IF we have some vacancies in the enrollment AND the registration is still possible (that is, it is still in the registration period).

Organization of the class:

▶ Each class will consist of (less than)100-minutes of lecture and discussion. The class will be conducted in English.

▶ This year, due to the coronavirus situation, this course will be held online (by using Zoom), so please make sure you have the application ready in your computer along with necessary devices.

● On the Zoom meetings:

・ I will post the "Zoom Link," "授業参加用ミーティング ID" and "パスコード" on 学習支援システム by Tuesdays (the day before the class). You will have to sign in with your own Hosei University mail address and password.

・ Your attendance will be recorded automatically, but I may take attendance.

・ In case someone comes in one of the online classes to do any disturbing acts (which is often called Zoom-Bombing), I will terminate the meeting immediately. And I will report to the University. I will then post in 学習支援システム what you will have to do.

・ I appreciate interaction and exchange with you in class. So, please make best efforts to express your ideas, even if you find it very difficult to do so. I would NOT penalize you for making mistakes; you ARE entitled to make mistakes in class!

Basic course requirements:

* No previous philosophy courses required.

* Intellectual curiosity; Keen eyes on everyday-life facts and happenings.

* Respectful attitude of others' opinions.

13	Language	What does it do?: What's its role?
14	Wrap-up: The Meaning of Life	Concluding remarks (Your "essay plan" will be returned)

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

・ I recommend that you review what you have learned in each meeting.

・ You are normally expected to spend about two hours for the preparation and review for each class.

・ You will have to submit your paper topic ("essay plan") by the 12th class meeting.

【テキスト（教科書）】

・ There will be no specific textbooks assigned.

・ Occasionally, reading materials may be assigned and handouts will be given in class.

【参考書】

No specific books assigned. But looking into any (large size) philosophy dictionaries will be of great help.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

I will assess your grade based on the way you participate in the class discussions and on your final project.

Attitude/ Participation: 40% of course grade

Final Project (a paper): 60% of course grade

*Attitude/ Participation:

I appreciate your participation in class and would like to know your ideas and opinions. I will hence consider your participation as part of your grade.

*Final Project:

At the end of the semester, you are expected to submit a short paper (of 700 to 1000 words) on the topic that you choose, explaining your ideas or insights. Your topic should be related to the issues studied or discussed in class. I will give you a specific Guideline before the end of semester.

▶ Near the end of the semester, you will have to submit your "essay plan," which should include the title (topic) of your paper and your (tentative) conclusion described in a short paragraph (of about 200 words): Note that it is NOT a draft of your final paper. You will receive my comments on your paper plan, and then your plan should be re-organized or revised accordingly.

▶ In writing your paper, you can expand your ideas by citing or referring to books and other documents, including materials from websites. In that case, you MUST explicitly show the sources or reference either in the footnotes or endnotes. (Do NOT cite or refer to Wikipedia in your paper. If you do so, you will receive a "D" grade.)

▶ Plagiarism: If you copy sentences from any existing documents (again, including any writings from websites) without showing sources or reference, you will receive a "D" grade. It is important that you present your own view or insights, not the same ideas as described or explained in published or preexisting documents or on websites.

▶ You have to submit your paper (essay) on the web system (Class Support System, 授業支援システム). The due date will be announced near the end of the semester.

Based on the grading criteria set by the instructor, students that successfully achieve 60% or more of course goals will be able to earn a passing grade for the course.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

In previous semesters, I received several comments from students: for instance, "having discussions in class was very hard at the beginning, but it helped me improve my English speaking skills and express myself logically. Eventually, I found it quite exciting and stimulating."

【その他の重要事項】

・ I urge you to attend the first and/or second meeting. In case you fail to attend both of them, that will affect your final grade (10%); if you have legitimate or good reason to miss the meetings, do not fail to contact me by e-mail.

・ As I appreciate interaction and exchange with you in class, I would like to know what you think and have your feedback. So, I strongly advise that you attend all the classes and participate in the discussions.

・ Philosophy is different from a philosophy. "Philosophy" is the discipline that comprises logic, metaphysics, ethics, epistemology, etc.; on the other hand, "a philosophy" is a system of beliefs, concepts, or attitude of an individual or a group. Everyone has a philosophy of some sort, even if he/she has never read a philosophy book. An individual's philosophy can be a subject for examination and discussion in philosophy class.

【Outline and objectives】

People often think that "philosophy" is quite an old subject – and very difficult, unfortunately. It is true that philosophical questions have been discussed in rather complicated and often confusing manners since many years ago, for example, by Socrates and Aristotle in the ancient Greek period. Students will learn anthropological approaches for interpreting issues regarding religions, societies, and the relationships between them. ## 【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

Students are expected to visit the relevant LMS site and get as much information as needed.

Admittedly, this is not an easy course with all those unfamiliar terms and concepts. So, it is strongly recommended to read the relevant materials suggested on the LMS site posted immediately after each class session by the instructor. Approximately two hours of preparation and reviewing are necessary for this course.

【テキスト（教科書）】

Viney, Brigit (2008). The History of the English Language. Oxford: Oxford University Press.

【参考書】

Suggested reading materials to enhance students' comprehension will be mentioned through LMS in due course. However, the following are worth reading prior to the opening of the course:

- Algeo, John (2010). The Origins and Development of the English Language. Sixth edition. Boston: Wadsworth. [Based on the original work of Thomas Pyles. Careful about special phonetic notations used.]
- Barber, Charles, Joan C. Beal, and Philip A. Shaw (2009). The English Language: A Historical Introduction. Second edition. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. [Offers clear explanations of linguistic ideas.]
- Bradley, Henry (1970). The Making of English. Tokyo: Seibido. [A bit out of date, but still a good introduction. Japanese translation available from Iwanami.]
- Schmitt, Norbert and Richard Marsden (2009). Why Is English Like That? Historical Answers to Hard ELT Questions. Ann Arbor: The University of Michigan Press. [A recent book; easy to read; written for English language teachers.]

【成績評価の方法と基準】

- Please note that attendance is taken for granted. However, if you miss a class, the following rule is applied: 1 demerit for each class missed. 3 demerits = -10% on your grade (roughly one letter grade). 5 demerits = failure for the course.

- Final exam: 70%.

- Project (if any): 30%

Any modification to the above shall be known to you by using LMS.

Based on the grading criteria set by the instructor, students that successfully achieve 60% or more of course goals will be able to earn a passing grade for the course.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Overall, the instructor gets favourable comments from the students.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Using a personal computer is recommended, which enables you to get accustomed to make use of phonetic fonts as well as tree-drawing applications. Also, there are many interesting sites on the web which the instructor recommends you to visit.

【その他の重要事項】

In terms of its content, this course is the same as「英語圏の文化 VIII（英語の歴史）」taught in Japanese. Therefore, if you have obtained credits taking that course, you cannot obtain credits by taking this course.

This course is just a half-year (semestral) course about the history of the English language. Students are highly encouraged to study various matters not treated in class sessions. Also, as is shown in Goals above, always having a strong interest in English per se is important. So, please study English hard and try to develop a 'feel' for the language.

【カリキュラム上の位置づけ】

Open for the third- and fourth-year FIC students (many of them probably being the SA-English students). Also open for non-FIC students. Appropriate for those who have strong interest in the English language and historical linguistics.

【Outline and objectives】

Towards the end of this course, students will be able:

1. to study the history of the English language, which, good or bad, has become an 'international language' in our modern world; and
2. to develop a general interest in the language itself through doing a lot of reading.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The Culture, Language, and Thought of the English-Speaking World is the product of many historical interactions between a variety of peoples with different ways of thinking and living in the world. To understand many aspects of the societies in the modern English-Speaking World, one must first recognize the historical forces that shaped them and brought them about.

【到達目標】

The primary goal of this course is to give students the basic knowledge necessary to understand: 1) how societies and cultures change in general and 2) how the cultures of the English-Speaking World developed their unique forms. Using the framework of cultural change, we will examine the formation of "Western" religious and political institutions that developed before 1500 CE in order to better appreciate the roots of "Western" social, political, and economic thought. Building on this foundation, the evolution of modern social systems and political-economic thought that occurred in the English-Speaking World after 1500 CE will be discussed.

【この授業を履修することで学部等のディプロマポリシーに示されたどの能力を習得することができるか（該当授業科目と学位授与方針に明示された学習成果との関連）】

【授業の進め方と方法】

The course will start out by outlining the forces behind cultural change. This will be followed by a series of lectures discussing the development of European political and religious institutions following the Ancient Greco-Roman era. We will then attempt to analyze Britain's rather unique political & economic institutions at the beginning of the modern era as a product of cultural change. Building on this foundation, the cultural changes, i.e., the changes in thought, caused by the Protestant Reformation and Enlightenment Philosophy will be examined and their impact on the development of British and American Political-Economic Systems through the 19th and 20th Centuries will be discussed. Students will receive feedback and comments on homework assignments and in class activities throughout the term.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

Students are expected to visit the relevant H'etudes site and get as much information as needed.

Admittedly, this is not an easy course with all those unfamiliar terms and concepts. So, it is strongly recommended to read the relevant materials suggested on the LMS site posted immediately after each class session by the instructor.

Approximately two hours of preparation and reviewing are necessary for this course.

【テキスト（教科書）】

There are no particular textbooks for this course.

【参考書】

Suggested reading materials to enhance students' comprehension will be mentioned through H'etudes in due course. However, the following (all written in Japanese) are recommendable prior to the opening of the course:

- 加島祥造 (1976). 『英語の辞書の話』. 東京：講談社 [のちに講談社学術文庫に収載.]
- 中島文雄 (1991). 『英語学とは何か』. 東京：講談社 [講談社学術文庫].
- 田中菊雄 (1992). 『英語研究者のために』. 東京：講談社 [講談社学術文庫].
- 竹林滋 (1991). 『英語発音に強くなる』. 東京：岩波書店 [岩波ジュニア新書].

【成績評価の方法と基準】

- Please note that attendance is taken for granted. However, if you miss a class, the following rule is applied: 1 demerit for each class missed. 3 demerits = -10% on your grade (roughly one letter grade). 5 demerits = failure for the course.

- The Final exam scheduled on the day of the final class session is very important. It is an online exam provided through the LMS. It is basically a multiple-choice type exam. Please see my message on the LMS site for more information.

Any modification to the above shall be known to you by using LMS

Based on the grading criteria set by the instructor, students that successfully achieve 60% or more of course goals will be able to earn a passing grade for the course.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

n/a

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Personal computers, good English dictionaries, etc.

【その他の重要事項】

This is just a half-year (semestral) course about the structural aspects of modern English, which is in many ways similar to 'Intro to English Linguistics' you see in English major's curriculum; only, the speed is much faster! Therefore, the contents covered should be rather selective in nature. Students are highly encouraged to study various matters not treated in class sessions.

Also, as is shown in Goals above, always having a strong interest in English per se is important. So, please study English hard and try to develop a 'feel' for the language.

【カリキュラム上の位置づけ】

Open for the third- and fourth-year FIC students (many of them probably being the SA-English students). Also open for non-FIC students. Appropriate for those who have strong interest in the English language and/or language studies in general.

【Outline and objectives】

The aim of this course is to consider structural aspects of the English language, which has become the de facto 'global' language. Towards the end of this course, students will be able to attain the following goals indicated below.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Sociology of Gender and Families

The family is one of the most important social institutions that everyone in society is familiar with. Because of the familiarity, however, we often lack critical perspectives on the issues pertaining to the family. We will challenge typically taken-for-granted notions of the family by considering it from a sociological point of view. We will do so by highlighting the ways in which gender plays a critical role in shaping our experiences, identity, as well as relationship to others.

【到達目標】

While focusing on families in contemporary Japan, this course will take a historical and comparative perspective to highlight diversity and transformation of families, both within and outside Japan. By investigating both public policies and private dynamics, we aim to deepen our understanding of, and gain critical perspectives on the family.

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. identify and critically engage with social issues pertaining to the family and gender;
2. understand the connection between individual experiences in family and broader socio-historical contexts; and
3. discuss issues surrounding the family and gender with a comparative perspective.

Business Communication

開講時期：春学期授業/Spring | 単位数：2 単位

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Effective communication is critical to our successful life and careers. But the question is “How can we become an effective communicator?” In this course, we will be aiming to be effective communicators by understanding the following three topics:

(1) Effective communication with a focus on others

When we want to be a good communicator, learning how to speak and write clearly is not enough; it is important for us to improve our ability to connect with others. The ability to truly connect with others is the key to building good relationships and improving our communication. In this course, we will learn how to communicate effectively by focusing, not on our own perspective, but on the perspective of others and their interests.

(2) Understand cultural differences

Understanding cultural differences of people we communicate with is also very important for effective business communication. In this course, we will learn a model called “The Culture Map” and decode how cultural differences impact international business communication.

(3) Understand unconscious bias

In this course, we also learn about unconscious bias. Unconscious bias refers to a bias that we are unaware of, and which happens outside of our control. Unconscious bias happens by our brains making quick judgments and assessments of people and situations without us realizing. Our biases are influenced by our background, cultural environment and personal experiences. Increasing numbers of global companies are introducing in-company education programs on unconscious bias because it could be a potential obstacle for their business unless they effectively address it. In this course, we have a basic understanding about unconscious bias and learn how to deal with it.

【到達目標】

We aim at achieving the following goals:

- (1) Learn basic methodologies for effective business communication with a focus on others
- (2) Understand cultural differences in communication with “the Culture Map”
- (3) Have basic understanding about unconscious bias and how to cope with it.

The theme of this course is "fashion and sustainability".
 In this course, students will learn about the sustainability-related issues surrounding fashion, one of the design forms most familiar to us, and contemplate how we can address these issues through the pieces of clothing we wear every day.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course focuses on the understanding of environment and society as an integrated system. The course explores the theory of social-ecological systems, and with this theoretical underpinning, we will learn about different aspects of environment and society interactions. We will particularly focus on the role of human agency and its present and possible future roles for the state of the earth.

The course is roughly divided into two parts: (1) problems associated with the environment and society and (2) solutions toward more sustainable human-environment relationships.

【到達目標】

At the end of the course, students will develop a good understanding of the main arguments related to environment and society relations from different case studies. These arguments include some of the classic environmental problems in our time, such as loss of biodiversity, climate change, water-energy-food nexus, environmental pollution, and diseases. The students will learn about efforts of conservation, and policies that strive to reduce human impact on the earth's natural systems that we need for our own survival.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Without cultural knowledge, language users may not fully understand the meaning of a message. Even with perfect grammar, we could completely offend our conversational partners without using language in a culturally suitable manner. In this course, we will take a close look at the face-saving strategies used in world languages. We will also consider and discuss diverse cultural values and orientations that are closely connected to verbal and non-verbal behavior. Enhanced linguistic and cultural awareness will help you become a more tactful and respectful user of your first and second languages and prepare you for effective intercultural communication.

【到達目標】

In this course, you will become able to 1) cultivate your understanding of the relationship between language form, meaning, and context, 2) become familiar with the notions of face and politeness, 3) collect and analyze authentic language samples, 3) understand cultural values and orientations behind language use in world languages. The course will also provide an opportunity for you to reflect on intercultural misunderstandings and respectful communication strategies with which to relate to others.

Regular attendance is essential in order to benefit from the interactive nature of this course. You will not be able to pass this course if you miss more than three class periods a semester except in extreme circumstances.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Because this course is to be conducted in English, students must be competent speakers/writers of English (e.g., native or proficient with TOEFL® iBT 61 or above). International and Japanese students of any majors are welcome as long as they are interested in world languages. Students should view each other's languages and cultural experiences as an asset to this course and create a friendly and respectful learning community.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Be prepared to use Hoppii, Google Classroom, and Zoom with your university account and check your university email daily. You will need to use a headset with a microphone if you are attending class on campus.

【その他の重要事項】

Depending on the pandemic situation and your preferences, course delivery method may be changed. Please check the announcement to be made on Hoppii before the start of the course.

【Outline and objectives】

Without cultural knowledge, language users may not fully understand the meaning of a message. Even with perfect grammar, we could completely offend our conversational partners without using language in a culturally appropriate manner. In this course, we will take a close look at the face-saving strategies used in world languages. We will also consider and discuss diverse cultural values and orientations that are closely connected to verbal and non-verbal behavior in world cultures. This enhanced linguistic and cultural awareness will help you become a more tactful and respectful user of your first and second languages and prepare you for effective intercultural communication.

Message to the course participants:

This is a relatively new course that opened in the spring of 2019. We had fascinating discussion and both students and I learned a great deal! This course is conducted in English. Students must be competent speakers of English (native or proficient with TOEFL® iBT 61+ or equivalent). If your scores are TOEFL® iBT 61 - 100, you can take this course but be ready to make a little more thorough preparation each week.

If you are interested in current issues, you're an excellent fit for this class. If you are more of a learner who likes the fun of language and art, you are also welcome. I expect international and Japanese students of all majors to work collaboratively despite their different cultural and linguistic backgrounds. Come with an open mind and learn from each other!

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, or Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) have come to be recognized as common tasks for the human society, which is, in a way, a manifestation of the severity of various problems we as a species are faced with. In light of this current situation, this course focuses on the concept of "sustainability" so as to provide students with an opportunity to learn about basic scientific aspects of environmental problems and also to learn about relevant social issues in an attempt to provide a view from a wider perspective.

【到達目標】

This course is designed to teach about ecological and social issues. Therefore, the course objectives are 1) to understand basic scientific concepts required to comprehend various environmental problems, 2) to understand social problems related to the environmental problems dealt with in this course, and 3) to form personal perspective and opinion about the current state of human society by understanding the interrelated nature of the environmental and socioeconomic problems.

【この授業を履修することで学部等のディプロマポリシーに示されたどの能力を習得することができるか（該当授業科目と学位授与方針に明示された学習成果との関連）】

【授業の進め方と方法】

Although this course deals with various topics from the perspective of "sustainability", the course is divided roughly into two parts. In the first part, students will learn about the basic features of ecosystem and biodiversity, that is to say, the natural world that surrounds us and provides us with essential resources. The second part will focus on environmental and social problems related to agriculture (food production) and use of other natural resources in order to explore our personal involvement in these issues.

The course will be taught mainly in lecture-style classes, however, there will also be opportunities for students to actively participate in class through, for example, group activities and discussion. In addition to in-class interactions, students will utilize the learning assistance system (Hoppii) to express their opinions/reactions and to submit questions regarding the materials presented in each class so as to help the instructor to grasp students' progress as well as to address their concerns, as needed. Note that, if the university's action policy level is set to 2, in principle, this class will be taught online via zoom. Details will be announced via the "Hosei portal to pick up information (Hoppii)".

【Outline and objectives】

The UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, or Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) have come to be recognized as common tasks for the human society, which is, in a way, a manifestation of the severity of various problems we as a species are faced with. In light of this current situation, this course focuses on the concept of "sustainability" so as to provide students with an opportunity to learn about basic scientific aspects of environmental problems and also to learn about relevant social issues in an attempt to provide a view from a wider perspective.

Topics that required more attention have been expanded. The syllabus has been updated for 2021.
 This is an Open-Global Course, and therefore, students from other campuses different from Koganei are also welcome to enroll. However, since class periods might differ according to the campus, some adjustments can be arranged.

Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, this course has been implemented since the year 2020 for real-time online delivery that allows attendance of students even from overseas locations. The same applies for the current year 2021. Should conditions permit, in addition to the online format, in-person classes can also be implemented in a hybrid format.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Japan's economy witnessed a fast growth after world war II. But ever since 1989, Japan's imploding stock bubble threw the country into a deep financial crisis, resulting in the famous "lost decades". And the stagnation continues especially after the world economic crisis hit in 2008. This will be one-year course. In the 1st semester, we will mainly take a macroeconomic perspective, and look at the reality and problems of Japanese economy from 1980s in a big picture, such as economic growth, financial and monetary policies, "the lost decade" and Abenomics.

【到達目標】

The purpose of this course is twofold: to arouse the students' interest towards the happenings that are related to Japanese economy, in a globalized context; and to equip students with the basic knowledge to reasonably question the phenomenon during the process of Japan's globalization, from the standpoint of economics.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

We will discuss the globalization of economics from mainly two important perspectives: international trade and foreign direct investment (FDI). In the first half, we will investigate why countries trade, types of trade, and study some of the benefits and costs of trade. In the second half, we will study why firms choose the form of FDI, the determinants of FDI, the spillover impact of FDI on the host countries. Various policies that different governments implement to promote globalization will also be studied.

【到達目標】

The purpose of this course is twofold: to arouse the students' interest towards the happenings that are related to international economics; and to equip students with the basic knowledge to reasonably question the phenomenon during the process of globalization, from the standpoint of economics.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Big Data is a rapidly developing field which is changing our world in ways which are still difficult to predict. Our first objective will be to gain an understanding of current trends, both positive and negative, from detailed studies of current news reports. Technical background will only be discussed where it is absolutely necessary for understanding the impact of Big Data on society and business. Our main objective is for each student to study those aspects of Big Data which can be expected to impact on the field in which they intend to work. For this reason, each student will be encouraged to make presentations and write reports, including a thesis, so that they can communicate what they are learning, and also so that students can learn from each other.

【到達目標】

The goal is to help all students to reach a level of understanding of Big Data (including AI) that will be useful in their job hunting and future careers. This course is held in the belief that an understanding of Big Data and AI can directly translate into future salary raises and promotions, even for those whose work is not directly related to the development of Big Data related technology.

【この授業を履修することで学部等のディプロマポリシーに示されたどの能力を習得することができるか（該当授業科目と学位授与方針に明示された学習成果との関連）】

【授業の進め方と方法】

Active learning is central to this course. We will be constantly in discussion. Flexibility of thought and association (working in groups or individually) will be encouraged where meaningful, but always with the goal of helping each individual student to achieve their best. We will also regularly cover the international news regarding Big Data and AI, and all students will be encouraged to report on news stories, particularly from their own country.

【授業計画】

回	テーマ	内容
1	What is Big Data?	This will be an introductory lecture followed by a discussion.
2	Data privacy	Students should consider what data is being collected about them, and try to estimate the amount.
3	Data privacy	Students should investigate laws concerning data privacy in Japan and other countries.
4	Data privacy	Medical and Genomic Data: Lecture

5	Data privacy	Student group or individual work: Preparation of presentations relating to data privacy.
6	Data privacy	Student presentations (group or individual).
7	Impact of Big Data on Business	Students should work in groups or individually, studying the impact on their own field of interest.
8	Impact of Big Data on Business	Student presentations (group or individual).
9	Impact of Big Data on Business	Students should investigate laws concerning Big Data in business in Japan and other countries.
10	Project work	Students must decide whether to work individually or in groups, and also decide on a topic.
11	Project work	All groups/individuals must describe their topic to the class.
12	Project work	All groups must make a detailed presentation of their project's current status.
13	Project work	Writing of reports.
14	Project work	Completion and submission of final reports.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

All students should be checking the international news daily, looking for reports relating to Big Data and/or AI. If the report is specific to a language other than English, students should be prepared to give a summary of the news in class in English. This will require two hours of work outside of class per week.

【テキスト（教科書）】

No textbook will be required.

【参考書】

The field of Big Data is changing so rapidly that we will not have any fixed references. Instead, up-to-date references will be provided when appropriate.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

There will be no examination.

Reports written for project work (every student must write their own report) will count for 50%.

Presentations made in class will count for 20%.

Homework assignments will count for 20%.

Class participation in discussions will count for 10%.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

This course is for the benefit of the students, and student feedback will be expressly encouraged. Since the field of Big Data and AI is changing very quickly, it will be important to have the flexibility to make changes to the course, even on a weekly basis when appropriate. Student comments will be a vital consideration in making changes, since any changes must be motivated by the goal of helping students in their future careers. Those students who wish to learn about technical aspects, such as advanced usage of Excel or database software, will be encouraged to do so.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Students must always bring notepads and pens/pencils. It would be useful if students could bring their own laptop computers to class.

9	Impact of Big Data on Business	Students should investigate laws concerning Big Data in business in Japan and other countries.
10	Project work	Students must decide whether to work individually or in groups, and also decide on a topic.
11	Project work	All groups/individuals must describe their topic to the class.
12	Project work	All groups must make a detailed presentation of their project's current status.
13	Project work	Writing of reports.
14	Project work	Completion and submission of final reports.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

All students should be checking the international news daily, looking for reports relating to Big Data and/or AI. If the report is specific to a language other than English, students should be prepared to give a summary of the news in class in English. This will require two hours of work outside of class per week.

【テキスト（教科書）】

No textbook will be required.

【参考書】

The field of Big Data is changing so rapidly that we will not have any fixed references. Instead, up-to-date references will be provided when appropriate.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

There will be no examination.

Reports written for project work (every student must write their own report) will count for 50%.

Presentations made in class will count for 20%.

Homework assignments will count for 20%.

Class participation in discussions will count for 10%.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

This course is for the benefit of the students, and student feedback will be expressly encouraged. Since the field of Big Data and AI is changing very quickly, it will be important to have the flexibility to make changes to the course, even on a weekly basis when appropriate. Student comments will be a vital consideration in making changes, since any changes must be motivated by the goal of helping students in their future careers. Those students who wish to learn about technical aspects, such as advanced usage of Excel or database software, will be encouraged to do so.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Students must always bring notepads and pens/pencils. It would be useful if students could bring their own laptop computers to class.

【Outline and objectives】

Big Data is a rapidly developing field which is changing our world in ways which are still difficult to predict. Our first objective will be to gain an understanding of current trends, both positive and negative, from detailed studies of current news reports. Technical background will only be discussed where it is absolutely necessary for understanding the impact of Big Data on society and business. Our main objective is for each student to study those aspects of Big Data which can be expected to impact on the field in which they intend to work. For this reason, each student will be encouraged to make presentations and write reports, including a thesis, so that they can communicate what they are learning, and also so that students can learn from each other.

The goal is to help all students to reach a level of understanding of Big Data (including AI) that will be useful in their job hunting and future careers. This course is held in the belief that an understanding of Big Data and AI can directly translate into future salary raises and promotions, even for those whose work is not directly related to the development of Big Data related technology.

毎年・隔年： | 科目主催学部：Social Sciences

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This class aims to improve students' English listening and speaking abilities, as well as their ability to recognize and use non-verbal communication (NVC) strategies, through the use of short dramatic scenes and plays. Students will also learn acting techniques drawn from the Western drama tradition, including the Stanislavski, Meisner and Adler approaches.

【到達目標】

From the plays, students will gain a deeper understanding of the culture of English-speaking societies, and a greater ability to apply interaction rules with people from those societies. Students will also be able to make their English communication sound more "natural".

【授業の進め方と方法】

NOTE: Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, classes will be conducted entirely online (using Zoom Software).

The lesson cycle follows this flow:

1. Read the scene/play aloud (for pronunciation/intonation patterns etc.)
2. Script analysis (for character motivations, subtexts, etc.)
3. Assigning roles
4. Scene rehearsal
5. Performance.

After the performance, students in groups write original scenes based on themes and vocabulary from the given scene. They then perform their new scene the following week. Feedback will be in the form of annotated evaluations from the instructor, with points awarded for clarity, vocal and body dynamics, etc. There will also be short scene quizzes.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This seminar is intended for graduate students interested in documentary film, its history and approach. This course will be online (mix of on-demand and zoom).

【到達目標】

First we will cover the history of cinema; from the birth to the dawn of cinema. Secondly, we will consider how documentary films are situated in the history of cinema. Third, we will look at documentary films in terms of approach. We will use Bill Nichols' six modes of documentary. Fourth, we will introduce Japanese documentaries, covering the period from the 1930s to the World War II, the early postwar period, the social movement of the 1970s, and the transition to self-documentary. Finally, we will look at new trends.

The third and last part deals with the notion of legal relations, which are either horizontal or vertical in nature.

【到達目標】

By attending this course, students will be able to:

- understand basic legal concepts,
- build a foundation for studying more specialized fields of law,
- acquire basic legal knowledge that will complement their studies in other fields,
- handle better daily life situations by acquiring a feeling of what is legally correct and what is not, which will hopefully help them to remain free from abuses.

Currently this class is planned to be held offline (face to face), therefore, please follow the university guidelines carefully when you participate in classes (e.g. sanitizing your hands prior to participation). If you have any difficulty to participate due to the situation of COVID-19, please inform the teacher as soon as possible in order to participate online.
