【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course is a general introduction to students who are interested in the studies of Africa's society, culture, and politics. The course will provide an overview of Africa's historical, political, cultural, and societal development. The main themes to be explored in this course will include Africa's pre-colonial livelihoods, colonialism and imperialism, the post-colonial transformations, and Africa in the age of globalisation.

【到達目標】

This course aims at exposing the students to how Africa has been subjected to profound stereotypes and misconceptions that largely inform the global perspectives of the continent. The course will seek to humanize our understanding of Africa by emphasizing forms and means of daily life experiences and understandings such as family life, love and joy, the life cycle, faith and belief, livelihood aspirations, hopes for the future, development aims and achievements, and sense of global belonging. The overall aim is that students will gain experience of researching, discussing, and presenting global issues using a good command of English language with both clarity and confidence.

Important: This course may be conducted online. In this case, you will need access to a computer connected to the internet and Zoom connection.

The course will be based around classroom listening, discussion and writing tasks. Reading and writing tasks will mainly be carried out outside the class. The assignments will be given in specified days requiring students to show comprehension of class contents. All written assignments will be returned in time with written feedback. Students are requested to freely engage the instructor for clarifications and questions. The classroom language will be English, and students will be required to actively participate in classroom and homework tasks.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course examines culture and society of the United States in comparison with other countries of immigrants such as Canada and Mexico, focusing on its transborderness and mobility. Often conceived of as a cross-border experience across regions and nations, the experience of traveling has been one of the central concerns in the history of literary and visual narratives particularly in the US. Through the analysis of American road movie and travel literature in comparison with those of other countries, this course introduces students to ways of thinking about US culture in a comparative and historical perspective.

【到達目標】

Through this course, students are expected to be able to do the following:

1. Examine the ways in which travel is represented in literary and visual narratives
2. Develop their skills to discuss culture through literary and visual texts
3. Give presentations in which the concepts and topics covered in the course are applied

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Among the most colorful, complex, and eventful periods in American history, the 1960s marks a turning-point of contemporary world. This course is designed to be an introduction to the history and culture of America in this decade for better understanding of current affairs we are facing today. Through the analysis of cultural materials including films, essays, stories, music tracks and lyrics in comparison with those of other countries, this course introduces students to ways of thinking critically about cultural phenomena and practices in a comparative and historical perspective.

【到達目標】

Through this course, students are expected to be able to do the following:

1. Explain the ways in which the counterculture movement challenged the established norms of American society
2. Analyze cultural phenomena and practices through literary, visual, and audio texts
3. Give presentations in which the concepts and topics covered in the course are applied

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course examines second language (L2) acquisition theory, research, and pedagogy. Students examine the variables that influence L2 acquisition and investigate how they are addressed in principled approaches to L2 pedagogy.

【到達目標】

Upon successful completion of this course, students are expected to be able to do the following:

1. Identify and explain the variables that influence L2 acquisition
2. Investigate the connection between L2 learning and teaching

【授業の進め方と方法】

This course examines key concepts in L2 acquisition theory, research, and pedagogy. Students then apply this knowledge by conducting research, presenting findings, and participating in group discussions. Most classes will consist of group discussions, presentations, and lectures on topics in L2 acquisition and pedagogy. Feedback will be given after each presentation. Check Hoppii for any updates regarding this course.

【Outline and objectives】

This course is designed to help undergraduate students in Global Business Program (GBP) understand basic concepts and ideas of organizational management in the world of business. This course teaches the importance of management and its vital roles, organization structures, and effective management of organizations.

【Goal】

The series of lectures in this course will help the students to obtain knowledge of general terms and concepts of organizational management study, and instill further interest and desire to deepen their understanding in this field.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-1", "DP2-2" and "DP3" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP4" policy.

【Method(s)】

This course will be delivered mostly through lectures so that the students can obtain basic knowledge of the subject. However, students will have opportunities to actively participate in the class by providing their critical thoughts and suggestions during discussions. The students will have two written tests (7th and 14th weeks) which will examine their understanding of this course.

Due to the epidemic of COVID-19, classes might be provided through the online system (Zoom). The detailed information will be updated.

【Outline and objectives】

Why do some firms succeed and others fail? Competitive strategy of firms explains a substantial part of their success and survival in markets. This course introduces students to key concepts and frameworks of strategic management. At the end of this course, students will be able to understand how firms gain competitive advantages and compete with rivals. The content of this course will become a basis for studying other courses on strategic management.

【Goal】

Objectives of this course are:

1. To learn how to analyze firms' external environments and internal resources.
2. To understand business level strategy.
3. To build skills in analyzing firms' success and failure.
4. To develop a capacity to think strategically.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-1" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP2-2", "DP3" and "DP5" policies.

【Method(s)】

This course is conducted in a classroom. However, in cases where students cannot enter Japan, the course will take the hybrid-flexible form (HyFlex, which is in-person lectures in parallel with online real-time). Students who cannot enter Japan attend lectures online.

Each session consists of lecture and discussion. Lecture introduces students to basic concepts and frameworks. Discussion and in-class exercises with regard to the concepts and frameworks, as well as case analysis, will be conducted.

In addition, students work on a team project during the semester. A team consists of 3-4 students. The number of team members may vary depending on the number of registered students. Teams are required to conduct a team project. Each team member writes up a term paper based on the team project. In week 14, teams will make a presentation of the project. Details regarding the team project will be announced in class.

Assignments are submitted in class or using Hoppii. Feedback will be given either in-class or on Hoppii.

Introduction to Accounting

Kenji KAWASHIMA

Term：秋学期授業/Fall | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：水 3/Wed.3 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：1～4

Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This course is designed to provide a basic understanding of accounting, including introductory accounting concepts, principles, and procedures. Specific attention will be devoted to the four financial statements and frameworks for understanding them, as well as ways in which to prepare financial data. Students will be expected to apply these skills to the analysis of real companies, and to interpret their respective financial statements accordingly. These cases will enable students to grasp the importance of accounting knowledge in the business world, to understand current events in terms of accounting measurements, and to communicate effectively with other professions.

【Goal】

Upon successful completion of the course, students should be able to:

- Analyze a company's annual report
- Draw conclusions about profitability, efficiency, liquidity, and solvency
- Record basic debt-credit journal entries
- Prepare simple financial statements

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-2" and "DP2-1" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP1-1" and "DP2-2" policies.

【Method(s)】

- In case it is difficult to hold classes in the classroom due to COVID-19, we may plan to hold classes using Zoom and record it. The recorded lessons will be available until the next class.
- You are required to submit a photo of homework assignments to Google Classroom after checking the answer yourself. The link to Google Classroom will be posted on Hoppii.
- After the review, new topics are explained by the instructor, followed by group discussions and/or case analysis. Active participation is strongly recommended especially during discussions and analysis.
- Japanese company financial statements are used in case analysis.
- Questions and comments are welcomed at any time on the Zoom and Google Classroom.

Introduction to Operations Management

Dennis TACHIHI

Term：春学期授業/Spring | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：金 3/Fri.3 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：1～4
Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

[Outline and objectives]

Many students are familiar with the Toyota Production System but fewer are aware it is part of the broader business function of operations management (OM). OM is the process of transforming inputs (raw materials, information) into valued-added outputs (goods and services)—in short, the procurement, assembly and distribution of goods as well as services.

In this connection, the main objective of this introductory OM course is for students to develop a functional understanding of the main concepts and methods informing the subject of OM. Furthermore, special attention will be paid to comparing a Japanese monozukuri approach with other countries. This introduction will then form the foundation for the OMI and OMII courses.

[Goal]

By the end of the course the students should be able to:

- Understand the 3 broad areas of OM: strategic, tactical and operational
- Explain the OM concepts, principles and methods in each of these 3 areas

· Acquire critical thinking skills in analyzing the main issues in OM
The acquisition of these skills will be demonstrated through class/group work participation, assignments and reports/presentations.

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]
This course is strongly related to the "DP1-1", "DP2-1", "DP4" and "DP5" diploma policies.

[Method(s)]

THE BEST CLASSROOMS DO NOT HAVE FOUR WALLS: LEARNING TAKES PLACE ANYWHERE, ANY TIME. IN YOUR CLASSROOM, THEN, I WILL EXPECT YOU TO CONDUCT THREE ACTIVITIES. FIRST, PLEASE LOG-IN TO OUR COURSE HOPPII WEBPAGE TO FIND THE REQUIRED READING (1-3 PER WEEK). SECOND, ALSO IN OUR COURSE HOPPII WEBPAGE WILL BE A SET OF EXERCISES/ASSIGNMENTS TO DEMONSTRATE YOU COMPREHEND THE SESSION LEARNING POINTS. AND THIRD, WRITE 3 SHORT REPORTS. PLEASE KEEP TO THE STATED DEADLINES.

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc.

Introduction to Japanese Economy

Hideaki HIRATA

Term：春学期授業/Spring | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：水 3/Wed.3 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：1～4

Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This course provides an introduction to (1) the Japan's macroeconomic characteristics, (2) the Japan's current economic issues, and (3) the basic economic principles and methods.

After learning a brief history of the Japanese economy and the basic analytical tools of economics, we focus on Japan's labor markets, financial markets, corporate finance and capital investments, international transactions, and economic policies from the 1980s onward. Comparison with the other economies is frequently done.

By the end of the semester, you are expected to be able to utilize the theoretical and empirical tools practiced in this class to generate practical policy recommendations for Japan's major economic problems.

【Goal】

This course is designed to provide students with opportunities to gain a basic understanding of the Japanese economy. The particular goals can be summarized as follows:

1. To learn the history of the Japanese economy after WWII
2. To learn the basic features of Japanese households, firms, and the government and to apply conventional economic theory to understand their behaviors
3. To strengthen analytical skills by discussing the strengths and limitations of Japan's corporate system, labor markets, economic policy, and so forth

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-3", "DP2-1", "DP2-2", "DP3" and "DP4" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP1-1", "DP1-2", "DP1-4" and "DP5" policies.

【Method(s)】

This course mainly comprises lectures, slideshows, in-class activities, and discussions. All class materials are distributed through the LMS. Note that the order of the lectures might be changed from the below suggested schedule but what we will cover would not change very much.

【Outline and objectives】

This course introduces elementary statistics, covering basic knowledge of descriptive statistics, probability and inferential statistics.

【Goal】

After successfully completing this course, students can do the following among others: understand and explain basic concepts; and summarize and examine data using software such as Excel.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-4" and "DP2-1" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP2-2", "DP4" and "DP5" policies.

【Method(s)】

The class is a combination of lectures and (computer) exercises. In each class, we quickly review a topic by watching a video and then learn the details with discussion and exercises.

Term：春学期授業/Spring | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：月 3/Mon.3 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：2~4

Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This course introduces students to key concepts and theoretical frameworks of international business. The course is more theoretical than practical.

The course focuses on key topics in international business such as institutional and sociocultural environments (global business environments), geographical diversification (internationalization) of firms, entry strategy, global business strategy, staffing of foreign subsidiaries, and language barriers.

At the end of this course, students will be able to understand how firms enter foreign markets, manage foreign subsidiaries, and gain competitive advantage.

【Goal】

Objectives of this course are:

1. To develop the ability to analyze national difference in institutional and sociocultural environment.
2. To understand theories of firms' internationalization.
3. To understand entry strategy, global business strategy, and the theoretical foundations of the strategies.
4. To understand the theoretical foundation of foreign subsidiary staffing.
5. To develop the ability to moderate language barriers inside multinational enterprises.
6. To build skills in analyzing firms' success and failure in foreign markets using the theories of international business.

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-1" and "DP4" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP2-2" policy.

【Method(s)】

This course is conducted in a classroom. However, in cases where students cannot enter Japan, the course will take the hybrid-flexible form (HyFlex, which is in-person lectures in parallel with online real-time). Students who cannot enter Japan attend lectures online.

Sessions consist of lecture and discussion. Lecture introduces students to basic concepts and frameworks of the session's topic. Discussion and in-class exercises with regard to the concepts and frameworks, as well as case analysis, are conducted.

Students also work on a team project during the semester. A team consists of 3-4 students. Each team is required to conduct and write up a case analysis. In Week 14, teams make a presentation of the project. Details regarding the team project will be announced in class.

Assignments are submitted in class or using Hoppii. Feedback will be given either in-class or on Hoppii.

【Outline and objectives】

Management Accounting is an essential tool that enhances a manager's ability to make effective economic decisions. This course teaches students how to extract and modify costs in order to make informed managerial decisions.

The course covers 3 topics:

1. After an introduction, we will first focus on the interaction of Management Accounting and the business process. "Cost Behavior", "Cost Management Systems" and "Decision Making" are the key issues.
2. In the second part, we will use accounting techniques for planning and control. "Budgeting", "Variance Analysis" and "Management Control System" will be discussed.
3. The last part will be about Capital Budgeting, a technique to evaluate projects having cash flows at different moments in time.

【Goal】

After successfully completing this course, students should be able to:

- Use cost-volume-profit analysis in decision-making
- Use relevant information for decision-making, both for pricing and operational decisions
- Set-up and use a master budget
- Execute variance analysis
- Understand, define, and implement management control systems and responsibility accounting

Financial Statement Analysis

Hiroshi FUKUDA

Term：春学期授業/Spring | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：水 3/Wed.3 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：2～4

Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

Stakeholders such as investors, suppliers, customers, employees and regulators, etc. need to be able to analyze and interpret financial statements. Precise analysis of these documents can help both internal and external decision makers evaluate an organization's past performance and then predict its future performance. In class we focus our attention on some basic and important ratios and other analytical tools.

【Goal】

After studying Financial Statement Analysis, you should be able to:

1. Recognize and define the main elements(stock data) and ratios on the balance sheet of a corporation.
2. Recognize and define the principal elements(flow data) and ratios on the income statement of a corporation.
3. Recognize and define the principal elements(flow data) and ratios on the cash flow statement of a corporation.
4. Compute and interpret basic and important financial ratios that would be useful to each stakeholder.
5. Make use of knowledge gained in a business setting in the near future.

This course is fairly related to the "DP1-2", "DP1-4", "DP2-1", "DP2-2", "DP3", "DP4" and "DP5" diploma policies.

【Method(s)】

This course is comprised partly of lectures, practices, and presentations by students. In each class, the instructor will first explain the topic of the day and students will do exercises. Participants are also required to make a presentation about corporate financial strength 3(three) times per semester.

[Outline and objectives]

A derivative, or derivative security is an agreement between two counterparties whose payoff depends on the value of an underlying asset. Forwards, futures, options, and swaps are representative derivatives. Derivatives are actively traded throughout the world and their market is exceedingly large. Unexpectedly, derivatives also have a long history. This course aims to help students understand the basic aspects of derivative securities and how to value them. Comprehension of derivatives will come in very useful in case you work in the financial industry in the future. Due to time constraints, swaps will be discussed only if we get ahead of schedule.

[Goal]

Upon completing this course, students will be able to

- 1) understand the characteristics of derivatives.
- 2) understand how forwards are valued.
- 3) understand how futures are valued.
- 4) understand how call and put options are valued.
- 5) solidify an understanding of business and economic news about financial markets.

[Outline and objectives]

This course aims at deepening our understandings of retail and distribution system in Japan. At the end of this course, you'll have acquired hands-on knowledge on (1) the social roles of the distribution system, (2) idiosyncrasies and historical development of the Japanese retailing and distribution system and (3) some of the critical and contemporary issues surrounding retailing and distribution trades in Japan today.

[Goal]

Through participating in this course, students are expected to acquire fundamental knowledge on various types of distribution channels as well as the social roles that the distribution system plays in a given socio-cultural and economic setting. Students are also given opportunities to compare the distribution system in his / her own country with its Japanese counterpart, making use of related statistics and other secondary sources, together with some fieldworks and case-based discussions. Course assignments are designed in a way that students can develop their interests in those retailers that represent the Japanese distribution today.

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]

This course is fairly related to the "DP1-1", "DP2-1", "DP2-2", "DP3", "DP4" and "DP5" diploma policies.

[Method(s)]

This course consists of a combination of lectures, in-class case-based discussions, student-led presentations, guest talks and site visits.

Operations Management I

Dennis TACHIKI

Term：秋学期授業/Fall | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：金 4/Fri.4 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：2～4

Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

How did the “Made in Japan” image change from shoddy goods in the immediate post-war period to its high quality image today? In answering this question, the focus in Operations Management I is on the role of monozukuri: “making things.” It is important to emphasize monozukuri lies not in the product and the service itself, but in the design process. This process consists of “design information” aimed at “delighting customers” (product development), transcribing it on a “product architecture” (production) and transmitting this “sensory experience” to customers (marketing and sales). Fujimoto (2004) argues this is the key to a Japanese style of manufacturing. Consequently the main objective of this course is to deepen the students’ understanding of these three aspects of the monozukuri process through case studies. In the first part, we begin with merging the “voice of the customer” with a company’s “intrinsic technology” in new product/service design. In the second part, we will translate these needs and capabilities into operations processes in not only the manufacturing sector, but also the services sector. In the third part, we will examine the information systems underlying a company’s supply chain. These “evolving deep layers in the design process of Japanese companies provide a window for analysing the current status of monozukuri as well as its possible future evolution.

【Goal】

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- ・ Read and write a case study.
- ・ THEORY: Understand the key concepts and principles constituting monozukuri.
- ・ METHODS: Apply the basic approaches guiding the monozukuri design process. In this connection, students will learn how to read and write a case study.
- ・ TOOLS: Use selected problem-solving techniques in pursuing monozukuri.

These are some of the components of critical thinking so we can begin to “speak with facts and not by guts.”

This course is strongly related to the “DP1-1”, “DP2-1”, “DP2-2”, “DP3”, “DP4” and “DP5” diploma policies.

【Method(s)】

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc. In this course we will learn and use the case study method.

【Outline and objectives】

Managing the flow of goods, people, money and information across national borders has become the new challenge for operations managers. So what if you are requested to evaluate and improve the operations management at a local company going global, how would you go about doing it? The traditional operations management answer is to focus on cost and speed issues; but in the 21st century, operations managers must also effectively respond to the challenges presented by globalization, sustainability, ethical conduct, effective communication, and system design. Doing this calls for operations managers to excel in the business, technical, and interpersonal aspects of their work as they actively support the mission and vision of their organization. In addressing these issues, the main objective of this course is to leverage the principles learned in the Introduction to Operations Management course and the tools/methods learned in Operations Management I course, to develop a PROJECT, selected by the students, that is applicable in the real world.

【Goal】

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- ・TEAMWORK: Understand the skills necessary to cooperate and coordinate an international Project.
- ・PROJECT MANAGEMENT: Design and implement project-based operations management activities within a company and/or across national borders. In this connection, students will learn how to draft a Plan Design Matrix and related documents.
- ・MANAGEMENT: Appreciate the emerging challenges faced by operations managers in a global economy.

Principles of Macroeconomics

Mizoguchi Tetsuro

Term：春学期授業/Spring | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：火 4/Tue.4 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：2～4

Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

[Outline and objectives]

Macroeconomics focuses at the national level, examining the determination of important national variables, such as GDP, the rate of inflation, the level of unemployment, as well as flows of imports and exports and the balance of trade. Course participants will also understand the mechanisms for government policies to improve or hinder economic performance at the macroeconomic level.

[Goal]

This course is an introduction to the field of macroeconomics. It will give you the fundamental idea of the range of behaviors that economists investigate, introduce you to the basic tools that we use to analyze the economy, and apply these tools to government policy issues. Most importantly, this course will introduce you to the “economic way of thinking,” an approach to decision making that applies to personal decisions.

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-3", "DP2-1" and "DP2-2" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP3", "DP4" and "DP5" policies.

[Method(s)]

Weekly Lecture and E-learning with questions. The e-learning platform, called “Mindtap”, is developed by Cengage Learning. Because of COVID-19 pandemic expansion, the class lectures will be held by ZOOM, the web-based online conference system.

No.	Theme	Contents
Class 1	Introduction	Course Overview (Class Objectives, Goals etc).
Class 2	Measuring a Nation's Income	The purpose of this lecture is to provide students with an understanding of the measurement and the use of gross domestic product (GDP). GDP is the single most important measure of the health of the macroeconomy. Indeed, it is the most widely reported statistic in every developed economy.
Class 3	Measuring the Cost of Living	The purpose of this lecture is twofold: first, to show students how to generate a price index and, second, to teach them how to employ a price index to compare dollar figures from different points in time and to adjust interest rates for inflation. In addition, students will learn some of the shortcomings of using the consumer price index as a measure of the cost of living.
Class 4	Production and Growth	The purpose of this lecture is to examine the long-run determinants of both the level and the growth rate of real GDP per person. Along the way, we will discover the factors that determine the productivity of workers and address what governments might do to improve the productivity of their citizens.
Class 5	Saving, Investment, and the Financial System	The purpose of this lecture is to show how saving and investment are coordinated by the loanable funds market. Within the framework of the loanable funds market, we are able to see the effects of taxes and government deficits on saving, investment, the accumulation of capital, and ultimately, the growth rate of output.

Class 6 The Basic Tools of Finance

The purpose of this lecture is to introduce the students to some tools that people use when they participate in financial markets. We will show how people compare different sums of money at different points in time, how they manage risk, and how these concepts combine to help determine the value of a financial asset, such as a share of stock.

Class 7 The Monetary System

The purpose of this lecture is to help students develop an understanding of what money is, what forms money takes, how the banking system helps create money, and how the Federal Reserve controls the quantity of money. An understanding of money is important because the quantity of money affects inflation and interest rates in the long run, and production and employment in the short run.

Class 8 Money Growth and Inflation

The purpose of this lecture is acquaint students with the causes and costs of inflation. Students will find that, in the long run, there is a strong relationship between the growth rate of money and inflation. Students will also find that there are numerous costs to the economy from high inflation, but that there is not a consensus on the importance of these costs when inflation is moderate.

Class 9 Open-Economy Macroeconomics: Basic Concepts

The purpose of this lecture is to develop the basic concepts macroeconomists use to study open economies. It addresses why a nation's net exports must equal its net capital outflow. It also addresses the concepts of the real and nominal exchange rate and develops a theory of exchange rate determination known as purchasing-power parity.

Class 10 A Macroeconomic Theory of Open Economy I

The purpose of this lecture is to establish the interdependence of a number of economic variables in an open economy.

Class 11 A Macroeconomic Theory of Open Economy II

This lecture demonstrates the relationships between the prices and quantities in the market for loanable funds and the prices and quantities in the market for foreign-currency exchange. Using these markets, we can analyze the impact of a variety of government policies on an economy's exchange rate and trade balance.

Class 12 Aggregate Demand and Aggregate Supply I

The purpose of this lecture is to develop the model economists use to analyze the economy's short-run fluctuations — the model of aggregate demand and aggregate supply. Students will learn about some of the sources for shifts in the aggregate-demand curve and the aggregate-supply curve and how these shifts can cause recessions.

Class 13 Aggregate Demand and Aggregate Supply II

Based on the lecture of Class 13, this lecture introduces actions policymakers might undertake to offset recessions.

Class 14	The Influence of Monetary and Fiscal Policy on Aggregate Demand	The purpose of this lecture to address the short-run effects of monetary and fiscal policies. In Chapter 33, we found that when aggregate demand or short-run aggregate supply shifts, it causes fluctuations in output. As a result, policymakers sometimes try to offset these shifts by shifting aggregate demand with monetary and fiscal policy. Chapter 34 addresses the theory behind these policies and some of the shortcomings of stabilization policy.

This class aims to help with the understanding of basic concepts and analytical methods of microeconomics at the introductory level. It focuses on decision-making of individuals and firms and the allocation of scarce resources in society. Topics are Supply and Demand, Equilibrium, Welfare Economics, The Role of Government in Markets, Markets and Competition, and Market Failure. Also, how microeconomics principles are applicable to the real world issues as well as to other academic fields will be discussed.

【Goal】

By the end of the course, students will be expected to:

- (1) Understand key economic models.
- (2) Understand key concepts in the textbook.
- (3) Acquire basic skills in order to make graphs and mathematical formulas.
- (4) Solve problem sets.
- (5) Evaluate daily life topics and current economic and business news from the viewpoint of microeconomic theory.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-3", "DP2-1" and "DP2-2" diploma policies.

【Method(s)】

This course consists mainly of lectures and subsequent exercises. After understanding the basic idea of microeconomics, students will solve problems and take quizzes in class. Also, problems will be assigned as homework. Students are required to use the online learning software, MindTap, to do homework. All materials including lecture notes will be posted on either MindTap or Hosei's class support online system, "H'etudes".

【Outline and objectives】

In this course we will address the question, What is Total Quality Management? The origins of this concept dates back to the 1930s at the Bell Laboratories of W.A. Shewhart in the United Kingdom. This became what was known as the British Standard 600. During the war years, the Americans established the Z-1 Standard. In the post-war era, Japan created not only the JIS (Japan Industrial Standards) mark, but also added a managerial dimension to the quality control concept.

In this connection, the main objective this semester focuses on the unique contributions of Japanese companies to TQM: (1) QC (quality control) as a national movement, (2) companywide quality control, (3) cross-functional management, (4) QC circle activities, and (5) QC audit.

【Goal】

Be the end of the course the student should be able to:

- ・ Understand why total quality management plays an important role in business.
- ・ THEORY: Grasp the merging of engineering techniques and business practices into the TQM story
- ・ METHODS: Use the PDCA cycle and kaizen for continuous improvement
- ・ TOOLS: Apply the analytical tools commonly used in TQM activities. Students should feel comfortable in engaging in TQM activities if given the opportunity in the future.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

【Method(s)】

Active Learning is the main teaching approach for this course. Active learning requires the students to take the lead in the learning process with the instructor acting as a facilitator. Some examples of active learning are pair-discussion, group work, case studies, simulations, presentations, reaction paper, experiential learning, etc. In this course, particular attention is paid to an experiential learning approach where students plan and do, then check and reflect on their Projects. This will be particularly the case in the second half of the semester.

【Outline and objectives】

Many foreign students in Japan encounter difficulties in finding jobs in Japan because of their limited information of recruitment, the knowledge of the manner of job-hunting, and language ability. Many foreign workers, on the other hand, are tackling issues related to adapting the corporate culture, building interpersonal relationships at work, and maintaining their work-life-balance. This course will provide the students with opportunities to know the tips of finding suitable jobs in Japan, maintaining the joy of working, and succeeding as foreign workers in Japanese companies through hearing real-life scenarios from practitioners.

【Goal】

The students are expected to obtain understanding on critical issues faced by foreign employees in Japanese companies, and how these issues are being tackled. The students will be able to effectively blend in with the Japanese community and/or work environments based on the knowledge obtained through this course.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

This course is strongly related to the "DP1-1", "DP2-2" and "DP4" diploma policies and fairly related to the "DP1-4" and "DP3" policies.

【Method(s)】

This course will comprise meaningful talks by practitioners, question and answer sessions, and discussions. The guest speakers will be invited from Japanese companies located in Tokyo and surrounding area, which include both big and small-to-medium-sized enterprises (SMEs). The students will be assigned to give a presentation as well as to write a term-paper at the ending of the course.

Due to the epidemic of COVID-19, classes might be provided through the online system (Zoom). The detailed information will be updated.

【Outline and objectives】

Traditionally, the answer to the question "What is the purpose of a company?" is simply "to make an economic profit." Throughout the late 20th century NGO (non-government organizations) and other stakeholders have put pressure on companies to assume a greater social and environmental responsibility. Now in the 21st century, as companies move overseas to developing countries, companies are facing demands to contribute to national economic development. The rise of a new type of company, the social enterprise, is an attempt to address these broadening business demands.

The main objective of this course is to introduce students to this alternative way to conduct international business, especially in developing countries. In addition, students will learn how to write their own business plan for implementing a social enterprise.

【Goal】

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

- Understand the role of social enterprises in a national economy
- THEORY: Comprehend the key research from BoP to SE
- METHOD: Develop and write each element of a business plan
- TOOLS: Apply the problem solving tools required to understand the business environment and company strategy

【Work to be done outside of class (preparation, etc.)】

· CLASS PREPARATION: An active learning approach requires students to prepare the readings and assignments BEFORE class. At a minimum students should understand the keywords and main issues in each weeks reading assignment.

· TIME MANAGEMENT: You are required to allocate 3-4 hours study time each week to prepare for class activities.

· GROUPWORK: Students should expect to allocate time outside of class to meet with their team members to discuss/prepare assignments.

【Textbooks】

The readings for this course will either be available on-line, through the university library and/or as hand-outs.

We will use supplementary materials from time-to-time, which will be made available as hand-outs and/or put on reserve at the university library.

【Grading criteria】

Students will be graded based on the following criterions:

- 15% Class participation
- 15% Assignments and/or group work
- 10% Presentations
- 60% Business plan report

Late submission of assignments will result in a lowering of a student's grade.

【Changes following student comments】

More case study examples.

【Equipment student needs to prepare】

Students are expected to bring a computer and/or smart phone to access the Internet and do statistical calculations.

【Others】

Students (or teams) should try to meet with the teacher F2F (face-to-face) and/or online at least once during the semester. Office hours will be announced at the first class.

【Prerequisite】

Suggest student to enroll in this class in their second year.

【Upon threat level change】

Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, it will be held online.

[Outline and objectives]

This course will provide an introduction to the culture and society of contemporary Britain. Students will acquire knowledge about Britain: its geography, climate, history, traditional culture, religion, political system, society, Britishness, and so on. The course will survey British society following globalization after Thatcher's government. Britain in the 70's was a nightmare, economically crippled, politically in a quagmire, and yet culturally vibrant. Thatcher, as prime minister (1979-1990), changed Britain drastically in the 80's. She insisted on free enterprise and deregulation, employed monetarist policies, privatized nationalized industries, passed legislations to weaken trade unions' political power, and was tenaciously skeptical about the deepening of European integration. However, socially, she was conservative and put an emphasis on the importance of traditional family, a self-help work ethic and community. Whether her policies worked well or not is still in discussion, but she is commonly thought to have prepared the way for globalisation, economic success, and the rise of so-called Cool Britannia. Political issues are often related to nation, religion, immigration, ethnicity, class, globalisation, gender, youth culture, and so on.

With UK as a case theme, we also understand the diversity of cultures around the world and the significance of enhancing communication with people from other cultural backgrounds.

[Goal]

Students will (1) acquire the general knowledge of the society and people in contemporary Britain, (2) learn how one of the most globalized nations has gone through the changes, and (3) think about the new realities and the implications of the changes. By comparing the situations in Britain and Japan, students will gain clearer perspectives on complex issues common in the most advanced and affluent countries.

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 3", and "DP 4".

[Method(s)]

Students will attend lectures, read related materials, write short essays, watch videos and films, and have two written examinations.

Feedback will be given through Hoppii. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

【Outline and objectives】

What is world literature? Why do some books become global bestsellers while others are deemed untranslatable? How does literature relate to other forms of art such as movies or music? This course will introduce the fundamental issues of modern comparative literary studies, including national canons, world literature, translation, and adaptation. We will discuss how comparing works with other texts across genres, languages, time periods, or forms of media can give us a fuller understanding of not only the text itself, but also how systems of literature combine to influence our impression of the text.

【Goal】

Students will practice critical reading and writing while learning the basic approaches used in comparative literary studies. Students will examine the historical development of comparative literature as a field while utilizing comparative methodology to read and respond to selected texts.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, “DP 3”, and “DP 4”.

[Outline and objectives]

This course examines the social, political, and cultural forces that shape the canon of Japanese literature available in English translation. In particular, we will focus on translations published in the United States in the postwar period. How did publishers determine which authors to introduce to an American audience, and how did those choices influence our image of Japanese literature in Japan, the US, and globally?

[Goal]

Students will think critically about the discourses of translation, publication, and world literature. Students will also develop critical reading and writing skills through class assignments.

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 秋学期授業/Fall | Year : 2~4
Day/Period : 火 4/Tue.4

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This class sees our society through the lens of race, class and gender to understand how privilege and inequality are produced, maintained, naturalized and challenged. The course will look at how various inequalities are connected to one another through examining global, national and local issues. Students will learn to analyze how race, class, gender, and sexuality are connected to each other as intersecting inequalities in a society and the world, and on that basis, consider the possibility of an equal but diverse world.

【Goal】

Through lectures, discussion and written assignments, students will learn concepts and theories to analyze how race, class, gender and sexuality affect individuals and society. They will learn to apply these analytical tools and knowledge to form critical opinions on current issues related to various bases of inequalities. Students will acquire skills in critical thinking, analysis and writing that can be applied in other academic fields as well as future careers.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, “DP 3”, and “DP 4”.

【Method(s)】

Final Paper:30%

【Changes following student comments】

Students have generally found the class interesting, informative and thought-provoking. However, some in the past have also indicated that the workload was heavy. Changes have been made to the assignments and exercises to make the workload more manageable.

【Equipment student needs to prepare】

None. Students are welcome to bring a laptop to take notes.

【Others】

Students are strongly encouraged to take Race, Class and Gender II after completing Race, Class, Gender I. Students who have passed Race, Class and Gender I will be given admission priority to the seminar, Intersectionality: Multiple Inequalities.

Our goal in this class will not be to memorize or master a series of clear-cut answers; rather, by engaging in lively discussions, we aim to hone our ability to ask critical questions so as to further develop our skills as writers, readers and thinkers. In order to create such a learning environment, students should speak to each other and the instructor with respect. Abusive and harsh language will not be tolerated. Students with special needs should notify the instructor as early as possible, no later than the third week of the semester.

【Prerequisite】

Students who intend to enroll in this class are expected to have passed Introduction to Sociology. This prerequisite may be waived if students have taken courses in Cultural Studies or Cultural Anthropology.

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 2~4

Day/Period : 金 2/Fri.2

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

[Outline and objectives]

This is an introductory course in social psychology, the scientific study of how we view and influence one another. Students are introduced to the theories, research methods, and seminal findings of social psychology. Social Psychology I will primarily focus on how we think about the social world, how we come to understand others, and how we exert influence on others' thoughts, feelings, and behaviors. Topics include perceptions of others and the self, attitudes, conformity, obedience, and persuasion. Social Psychology II will focus on social relations and intergroup dynamics, covering topics such as helping and aggression, group influence, self, emotion, and prejudice. These two courses will complement each other to provide an overview of the main content areas of social psychology.

[Goal]

This course will introduce students to the perspectives, research methods, and empirical findings in the field of social psychology and cultivate skills in analyzing the social situations and events that we encounter in our everyday lives. By the end of the course, students will be able to (1) identify and understand major theories, principles, and research findings in the field of social psychology, (2) apply social psychological theories and principles to real life experiences, and (3) critically evaluate social psychological theories and research. In Social Psychology I, students will be able to answer the following questions: How are we influenced by our environment and by other people? How do we explain others' behavior? What are attitudes and how do they affect us? What leads to conformity and obedience? When are people persuaded by differing opinions and when are they not?

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", and "DP 4".

[Method(s)]

Methods of instruction include lectures, films, individual and small group activities, and discussions. Students will engage in various hands-on activities and experiments to experience the concepts they learn in class. Students will be asked to reflect on their daily experiences and share examples that illustrate these concepts. Feedback for the quizzes and midterm exams will be given in class. Students are also encouraged to take advantage of the office hours should they wish to get more personalized feedback on how to improve their performance. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

The reference book will be available in the library and the GIS Reference Room for those who wish to learn about each topic in more detail. Handouts and reading materials are on the course website.

[Grading criteria]

Students are evaluated based on midterm and final exams (35% each), in-class activities and quizzes (20%), and class participation (10%).

[Changes following student comments]

Students usually find this course interesting and eye-opening. I hope to continue engaging students with materials through various hands-on activities and discussions.

[Others]

Social Psychology I and II can be taken in reverse order (II and then I). Students who have taken and passed introductory courses in psychology (e.g., Introduction to Psychology I/II, Developmental Psychology) may be given priority in the selection. Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 秋学期授業/Fall | Year : 2~4
Day/Period : 月 3/Mon.3

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

The goal of this course is to introduce the students to various quantitative research methods used in the social sciences. When making important decisions, be it choosing a strategy to increase the sales of a product, implementing an intervention program to boost people's well-being, or selecting a school program to increase students' learning, people can rely on their intuition and experience, or they can base their decisions on facts: data. In this course, students will develop skills to obtain valid and reliable data through experimental and survey methods. The course will also cover topics related to research ethics, some basic statistics, and APA-style writing.

【Goal】

This course provides an overview of the 'how's and 'why's of quantitative research in social sciences, and it covers such topics as design, ethics, and APA-style writing and such strategies as field experiments and surveys. Students will develop the ability to design, conduct, evaluate, and report empirical studies. By developing hypotheses and critically assessing information, students will improve on their critical thinking skills.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", and "DP 4".

【Method(s)】

The course consists of lectures, in which general ideas and methods of research will be presented, and hands-on applications of the methods, in which student's research projects will be planned and presented. Although some of the class time will be set aside for planning students' research, the majority of it will be done as assignments to be completed outside class. Feedback for research will be given during class time. Comments for papers will be given via the Learning Management System.

4	Descriptive Research	What do people do? Evaluating frequency claims with observations
5	Correlational Research I	How are two variables related? Evaluating association claims with surveys
6	Correlational Research II	Writing clear questions: closed vs. open ended questions
7	Correlational Research III	How generalizable are my findings? Sampling issues and validities
8	Correlational Research IV	Creating a questionnaire
9	Data analyses I	Comparing means and computing correlations
10	Experimental Research I	Common experimental designs; random assignment and control
11	Experimental Research II	Designing and conducting a field experiment
12	Experimental Research III	Various threats to internal validity
13	Data Analyses 2	Comparing percentages
14	Students Poster Presentations	Poster presentations of group research

【Work to be done outside of class (preparation, etc.)】

Students will have to complete the assigned homework on time to successfully complete the class. They will be asked to do the readings, create research materials, collect data, etc. outside the class. Please bear in mind that the course will require that students spend a considerable amount of time outside class (at least 2 hours every week, sometimes more). Most work will be done in small groups, suggesting that students need to be flexible in finding time to meet other students during the week. Preparatory study and review time for this class are 2 hours each.

The reference books will be available in the library and the GIS Reference Room for those who wish to learn about each topic in more detail. Handouts and reading materials are on the course website.

【Grading criteria】

Final grades are based on two research papers (20% and 30%), a poster presentation (20%), and the quality and timeliness of group work done outside class (30%).

【Changes following student comments】

Students in previous years found this course very demanding but rewarding. Some students aimed to accomplish at a higher level while others were somewhat struggling to meet the requirements. I will provide office hours and other consulting time outside the class to meet the need of individual students.

【Equipment student needs to prepare】

For some weeks, students will be asked to bring laptop computers. Students must get the login information for PyscINFO database from the library.

【Others】

Students who have successfully completed Statistics will be given priority during enrollment.
Students must take and pass this course if they wish to enroll in the Self and Culture seminar. Students who plan to enroll in other seminars in social sciences are also strongly encouraged to take this course.

【Others】

This course requires students to have some basic understanding of Statistics and Mathematics.

Students who are interested in taking this course must attend the first week of class. A selection process will be conducted during the first week prior to the enrollment of this course.

Some business or accounting knowledge is preferred.

【Prerequisite】

None

【Outline and objectives】

Learning the fundamental concepts of finance. This is a basic level finance course that focuses on the core principles of finance, including financial statements, financial performance, time value of money and risk analysis. Even if you are not planning a career in finance, a working knowledge of finance will help you to understand and interpret financial information around you. This is important because financial decisions are everywhere, both for you and the firm that you will work for.

【Goal】

This course presents the fundamental concepts of finance to students. The goal of this class is to develop corporate finance tools that are used in business. At the end of this course, students will learn and understand the quantitative and analytical skills necessary to make a good financial decision.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, and “DP 4”.

【Method(s)】

This course is taught primarily through lectures. Feedback is given during class time and through tools such as HOPPII or email. Interactive class participation is encouraged.

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 2~4

Day/Period : 火 4/Tue.4

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This course provides students with a basic knowledge of sociolinguistics, the study of language in relation to society. The first part of the course is concerned with how individual language use is correlated with a variety of social variables, such as gender, age, class and ethnicity, by outlining a number of previous studies conducted in the English-speaking world. Particular reference is made to the classic research of William Labov, one of the founding figures of quantitative sociolinguistics.

Later lectures focus on how and where a language or dialect is socially placed and ranked within a community, including multilingual/dialectal countries such as Singapore. Students who are or are becoming bilingual will find the discussion on bilingualism especially interesting when they learn that its implications not merely vary from one society to another, but have been significantly changing recently. Another major topic is language attitudes. They are not based on purely linguistic considerations, but connected with how people perceive different dialects or accents.

【Goal】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology, concepts and theories in sociolinguistics,
- (2) have an awareness of ongoing language changes in society, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for sociolinguistic analysis.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, “DP 3”, and “DP 4”.

【Method(s)】

This course is a combination of lectures and class discussions. Based on a flipped learning model, students have to read chapter handouts and address questions asked there prior to attending each lecture. Submitted assignments and tests are reviewed in detail and commented on in the following week's lecture. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

English as a Lingua Franca

Yutai WATANABE

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 2~4

Day/Period : 火 2/Tue.2

他学部公開 : グローバル : ○ 成績優秀 : 実務教員 :

【Outline and objectives】

The ratio of native to non-native users of English in the world is roughly estimated to be 1:3. However, it was only towards the turn of the century that sociolinguists/applied linguists took a keen interest in the expanding use of English as a lingua franca (ELF), which is due to the globalisation in all aspects of society, including mass media and pop culture. Arguably, some Expanding Circle countries, where English does not have an official language status, have recently overshadowed the Outer Circle ones in proficiency and frequency of use.

The former part of the course observes how extensively English is used in international contexts, mainly among non-native speakers, while analysing phonetically examples of L2-accented speech. It also refers to the limitations in the traditional models of the World English(es) put forward by B. Kachru and other scholars. The latter half discusses native-speakerness, bilingualism and native-speakerism, all of which exert a significant influence on pedagogical practices, and suggests how these notions could/should be modified from the perspective of ELF. The course is concluded with an analysis of status and function of English in present-day Japan.

【Goal】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology and concepts in ELF and World English(es),
- (2) have an awareness of the wider use of English in non-native speaking contexts, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for linguistic research.

English as a Lingua Franca

Yutai WATANABE

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 秋学期授業/Fall | Year : 2~4
Day/Period : 火 4/Tue.4

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

The ratio of native to non-native users of English in the world is roughly estimated to be 1:3. However, it was only towards the turn of the century that sociolinguists/applied linguists took a keen interest in the expanding use of English as a lingua franca (ELF), which is due to the globalisation in all aspects of society, including mass media and pop culture. Arguably, some Expanding Circle countries, where English does not have an official language status, have recently overshadowed the Outer Circle ones in proficiency and frequency of use.

The former part of the course observes how extensively English is used in international contexts, mainly among non-native speakers, while analysing phonetically examples of L2-accented speech. It also refers to the limitations in the traditional models of the World English(es) put forward by B. Kachru and other scholars. The latter half discusses native-speakerness, bilingualism and native-speakerism, all of which exert a significant influence on pedagogical practices, and suggests how these notions could/should be modified from the perspective of ELF. The course is concluded with an analysis of status and function of English in present-day Japan.

【Goal】

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) understand key terminology and concepts in ELF and World English(es),
- (2) have an awareness of the wider use of English in non-native speaking contexts, and
- (3) become familiar with interpreting quantitative/qualitative data for linguistic research.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

【Outline and objectives】

This course examines enduring questions of world politics, including rivalry and competition among great powers, rising ethnic and religious conflicts, the role of international law and organizations, growing economic interdependence and the effects of globalization, the rise of non-state actors and their challenges to state sovereignty, and the prospects of world order.

【Goal】

The course objectives are: (1) To enable students to utilize the concepts and theories of IR to analyze major events, actors and structures in world politics, e.g., the state, war, rising ethnic and religious conflicts, the role of international law and organizations, globalization, the rise of non-state actors and the prospects of world order; (2) To enable students to acquire the ability to form their own answers to enduring questions in world politics.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", "DP 3", and "DP 4".

【Method(s)】

This course consists of three major sections. In the first section, students will learn various analytical tools indispensable for deeply understanding enduring questions of world politics. Students then will utilize those analytical tools to examine the origin and process of major wars during the twenty century, namely World Wars I and II, and the Cold War. In this task, students will be required to give a group presentation. In the final section, students will examine contemporary issues, including rising intrastate conflicts in the post-Cold War era, the roles of international law and organizations, the rise of non-state actor, and the prospects of world order.

Comments for assignments are given during class and office hours.

"Introduction to International Relations" and "World Politics are best seen as an inseparable pair of courses that will provide students with an overview of the field of IR. For this reason, it is recommended that students wishing to enroll in this course first pass "Introduction to International Relations".

Foreign Policy Analysis

TAKESHI YUZAWA

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 2~4

Day/Period : 火 3/Tue.3

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

[Outline and objectives]

This course will provide an overview of Foreign Policy Analysis (FPA), examining the processes and actors involved in foreign policy decision-making.

[Goal]

The course objectives are: (1) to enable students to demonstrate an understanding of the processes involved in foreign policy decision-making; (2) to enable students to demonstrate an understanding of the contexts, pressures and constraints with which policy-makers must deal; (3) to enable students to demonstrate their ability to engage in comparative analysis of the foreign policies of major powers.

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, “DP 3”, and “DP 4”.

[Method(s)]

This course will first examine the key concepts and theories in foreign policy analysis (FPA), which are essential for understanding the contexts, pressures and constraints with which policy-makers must deal. These include the Rational Actor Model, the cognitive and psychological approaches, the bureaucratic politics approaches, the role of history and identity in foreign policy, and other internal-external factors influencing foreign policy decisions. After examining the major approaches in FPA, students will conduct case studies. For this reason, students will be required to give a group presentation based on readings relating to the foreign policies of the major states.

Comments for assignments are given during class and office hours. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

Advanced Topics in American Literature: US Southern Literature

Gregory KHEZRNEJAT

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 秋学期授業/Fall | Year : 3~4
Day/Period : 木 1/Thu.1

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

Southern literature is perhaps the best-known regional literature of the United States, featuring voices, genres, and motifs specific to its distinct tradition. But it is far from a monolith, and the literature of the south reflects the diverse cultures, peoples, and languages of the region. Southern literature has often given a sharp focus to social, historical, and cultural issues of the United States, serving as a grim counterpoint to more optimistic national mythmaking. This course will focus on southern literature in the twentieth century, exploring how writers respond to questions of war, race, memory, class, and modernization.

【Goal】

Students will examine the historical context and major themes of southern literature. Students will also develop critical reading and writing skills.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 2”, “DP 3”, and “DP 4”.

【Method(s)】

Class time will be divided between lectures and group discussions. In-class feedback will be given for daily reaction papers, and students will receive personal feedback on written assignments.

Modern Japanese Fiction in Translation

Gregory KHEZRNEJAT

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 3~4

Day/Period : 月 5/Mon.5

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

How do we process the experience of encountering a new language and culture? How does that process in turn affect our own personal language and identity? In this course, we will read translations of personal essays and fiction written in the Japanese language by contemporary authors undergoing such experiences, including Japanese authors living abroad and non-Japanese authors writing in their adopted language. As we compare their stories and observations, we will also consider how the act of writing provides each author with a space to form and perform new cultural identities and personal idioms.

【Goal】

Students will practice reading and writing critically as they explore dynamics of culture, language, and identity in modern Japanese literature.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, “DP 3”, and “DP 4”.

【Method(s)】

Classes will be divided roughly evenly between lectures and guided discussions. Short quizzes will be given to assess comprehension of weekly readings. Students will submit midterm and final papers. In-class feedback will be given for daily reaction papers, and students will receive personal feedback on written assignments. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

【Outline and objectives】

How does a good short story create an emotional reaction in the reader? How can we learn to use those techniques in our own writing? In this workshop-based course, students will be introduced to the basic skills, tools, and theory of short narrative prose writing, both through reading short stories and composing and editing an original piece of writing over the course of the semester. We will focus on fundamental elements of traditional short fiction, such as characters, dialogue, and narrative viewpoint. Students will also learn about the processes of planning, composing, editing, and revision. This course is designed for varying levels of English ability and writing ability, and will include special emphasis on the composition of fiction in a second language.

【Goal】

Students will learn and apply the fundamental techniques of writing short stories. Students will also become more critical readers by developing an awareness of the technical elements of prose writing.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain “DP 1”, “DP 2”, and “DP 4”.

【Method(s)】

Classes will consist of lectures followed by short discussions and writing practice. Additionally, classes will include workshops in which students read and respond to stories composed by their peers. In-class feedback will be given for daily reaction papers, and students will receive personal feedback on drafts of their story.

Race, Class and Gender II: Global Inequalities

Kukhee Choo

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 3~4

Day/Period : 火 6/Tue.6

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This class builds on what students have learned in Race, Class and Gender I to look at how inequalities are inter-connected through examining various global issues. Students will learn to analyze how race, class, gender, and sexuality are connected to each other as intersecting inequalities in a society and the world, and on that basis, consider the possibility of an equal but diverse world.

【Goal】

A major goal is to develop students' sensitivity towards issues of inequality and skills in social analysis and critical thinking. By exploring issues related to family, employment, violence, prostitution, and human and sex trafficking, in an international and global context, students will learn to see how any global issue is multidimensional, and specifically, how inequalities are complex and constituted by the interconnection of race, class, gender, sexuality, and other bases of inequality.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", "DP 3", and "DP 4".

【Method(s)】

The course is taught through a combination of lectures, video-viewings, and class discussions based on readings and videos.

Comments/feedback for assignments (tests and reports, etc.) are given during office hours. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

Cultural Psychology

Ai FUKUZAWA

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 3~4

Day/Period : 木 3/Thu.3

他学部公開 : グローバル : ○ 成績優秀 : 実務教員 :

【Outline and objectives】

This course introduces the perspectives and major research findings of cultural psychology. The course will introduce general theories and perspectives underlying cultural psychology, explore cultural influences on a wide range of psychological processes, including socialization, self-concept, motivation, emotion, and cognition. The course will also explain the mechanisms underlying cultural differences and examine the process of acculturation and biculturalism in an increasingly diverse world. Throughout this course, students will learn how culture shapes the way we think and behave and how we, at the same time, shape these cultures.

【Goal】

One of the aims of this course is to introduce students to the perspectives, research methods, and findings of cultural psychology. Another equally important aim of this course is cultivating students' abilities to understand and deal with variations in psychological processes across cultural and ethnic groups, as well as to gain an understanding of the cultural groundings of their own experiences and actions. By the end of this course, students will be able to demonstrate understanding of how cultural systems influence individuals' psychological processing, including development, self-concepts, motivation, emotion, and cognition. They will also be able to critically engage and analyze cultural products, such as books, films, and advertisements.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", "DP 3", and "DP 4".

【Method(s)】

Instructional methods include lectures, films, discussion over assigned readings, and small group activities.

Final grades are based on two exams (25% each), reaction papers for assigned readings (25%), and class participation (25%).

At the beginning of class, feedback for the previous class is given using some comments from submitted reaction papers. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

English Dialects around the World

Yutai WATANABE

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 3~4

Day/Period : 火 5/Tue.5

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

[Outline and objectives]

No language has ever been so extensively used on Earth as English is today. However, the language, spoken by well over 400 million people as a mother tongue, has developed a wide range of variations due to regional and social factors. This course aims to survey the phonetic, lexical and syntactic features of some varieties of standard English in the UK, North America and Australasia, with frequent reference to their historical and cultural backgrounds. Special attention is paid to Australian and NZ English, considering the increased significance of the southern hemisphere countries in business and education. It is often predicted that L2 speakers of English in Asia alone will likely outnumber monolingual English speakers of the Inner Circle within this century. Mention is made of Singapore English as an example of New Englishes.

[Goal]

By the end of the course, students will:

- (1) better understand the richness and diversity of the English language,
- (2) get familiar with the IPA vowel and consonant charts,
- (3) be able to identify major English accents in the world, and
- (4) become more familiar with the lexical/syntactic features of Canadian, Australian and NZ English in particular.

[Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?]

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", "DP 3", and "DP 4".

[Method(s)]

This course is a combination of lectures and discussions about pre-assigned topics. The lectures are delivered using PowerPoint slides and Internet sources. Students have to address review and application questions given in advance. Attendance at the first class is mandatory.

Submitted assignments and tests are reviewed in detail and commented on in the following week's lecture. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

Credit(s) : 2 | Semester : 春学期授業/Spring | Year : 3~4

Day/Period : 木 2/Thu.2

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

This course will explore the nature of international relations in the Asia-Pacific. It will mainly examine and discuss the following: (1) factors for stability and peace in the Asia-Pacific region after the end of the Cold War; (2) roles for the great powers in the region: the United States, China, and Japan; (3) problems and prospects for regional security and economic cooperation; (4) the evolution of regional institutions; (5) the prospects for regional order.

【Goal】

The course objectives are: (1) to develop students' ability to effectively use IR theories to analyze and explain developments in regional affairs; (2) to enable students to analyze the foreign policies of the major powers and selected regional countries; (3) to enable students to assess the developments of regional institutions; (4) to enable students to examine and assess the status and prospects for regional order.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Will be able to gain "DP 1", "DP 2", "DP 3", and "DP 4".

【Method(s)】

This course is composed of twelve lectures. In each class, a background lecture on a pre-selected topic will be provided to students. After a lecture, there will be a discussion. While the lectures will provide an overview of the topics in question, the discussions will give students an opportunity to examine policies in more depth.

Comments for assignments are given during class and office hours. Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at: at level 1, 70% of this course will be held on campus, though at level 2, 50% will be held on campus.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

First Year Seminar is a course designed to help first-year students to adjust to living in their new environment in Tokyo and studying at Hosei University. Enrollment is limited to twenty-four students.

【到達目標】

The aim of this seminar is to acquaint new students with Hosei University's history, policies, and resources. Students will learn about the inter-connectedness of academic knowledge and research fields; gain an appreciation for diversity; acquire confidence and maturity in the classroom as well as basic study skills; discuss local and global issues relating to the Japanese business and the economy, etc.

【授業の進め方と方法】

This seminar is discussion-based. Each student will conduct research on a couple of individual topics based on his or her own interests. Students are expected to complete their assignments on time.

Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the classes may be conducted using the Zoom online meeting application.

*Feedback on assignments/tests during office hours and/or during class.

回	テーマ	内容
WEEK 1	Introduction/Campus tour	Course outline, assessment criteria, and self-introductions
WEEK 2	Using the library resources to do research	Virtual Library tour and learning to use the databases
WEEK 3	Group work 1 -Basic discussion skills: note-taking and preparing a presentation-	Group discussion on Hosei University and 'Living in Tokyo'
WEEK 4	Group work 2 -Academic presentation skills-	Group/individual presentation using Power Point
WEEK 5	Academic communication	Information literacy: email etiquette; discussing differences in Japanese communication styles
WEEK 6	Computer skills	Information literacy/interpreting and using statistics: Word and Excel practice
WEEK 7	Special event 1: Field trip (virtual or guest lecture)	Tour of Teikoku Databank Museum (or guest lecture) and discussion
WEEK 8	Research report writing	Style, contents, structure, organizing information for research
WEEK 9	Group research -Working in Japan 1-	Choosing a research topic, brainstorming, group discussion
WEEK 10	Special event (2): Guest lecture	Guest lecture and discussion
WEEK 11	Group research 2 -Working in Japan 2-	Data collection, preparing a presentation
WEEK 12	Group research 3 -Working in Japan 3-	Group presentation with power point, group discussion
WEEK 13	Personal research 1 -Issues in Japanese business and the economy-	Choosing a research topic, brainstorming, discussion, and data collection
WEEK 14	Personal research 2 -Issues in Japanese business and the economy-	Presentation with power point, final evaluation

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

Short homework assignments (outside of class) and reaction paper (during class) will be assigned. The standard preparation and review time for this class is two hours each.

【テキスト（教科書）】

None. Reading materials will be distributed as needed.

【参考書】

To be announced in class.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

Participation (30%), reaction papers and assignments (30%), presentation and reports (40%).

A student who misses more than three classes prior to the twelfth week of the semester (for any reason) must withdraw from the course.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Please turn off your cellphones or set them on silent mode when you come to class. Similarly, text messaging, especially during special events with guest lecturers, is impolite and not allowed during classes.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

The students need a PC (and a high-speed internet connection to participate in online classes).

【その他の重要事項】

Please note that if the number of students attending the first class significantly exceeds expectations, in order for the instructor to effectively manage the class, the number of students who are allowed to register for the course may be limited.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course provides a very broad overview of mathematics that will be useful for any economist or social scientist. Classes will be discussion-based, with the opportunity for all students to become involved and express their opinion on mathematical topics. Technical skills will also be taught, and regular homework assignments will provide an opportunity to practise and gain a solid understanding of subtle issues.

【到達目標】

Empowerment and understanding are key words for this course. You will learn to see how mathematics relates to economics, and be able to confidently contribute to workplace discussions involving mathematics.

All classes for this course are discussion-based. Students will be encouraged to participate in discussions, ask questions, or even give an impromptu presentation if it is appropriate and helpful for everyone. There will also be regular homework assignments, which must be completed in writing and submitted by a given deadline. Homework assignments are to be submitted in class, and will be returned at the beginning of the following class. Individual written feedback will be provided as appropriate, and general comments regarding the homework submissions will be made in class.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course is an introduction to econometrics for the IGESS students who major or minor in economics. Econometrics is a set of research tools employed in a wide range of disciplines. Most economists do empirical research for their professional service. We rigorously study three fundamental components of econometrics: they are estimation, hypothesis test, and prediction.

【到達目標】

Students will learn estimation, hypothesis test, and prediction.

Four Homework Assignments: 50 points

The grading scale of the Hosei University will be used.

An instructor reserves the right to adjust the final letter grades to reflect the students' ability in class.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Last semester a student in my lecture suggested that I shall divide students in two groups, groups of students who understand the lecture materials well and who may need extra supports, to cover more advanced materials this 2021-22 academic year. Hence I will hire a teaching assistant who did really well on the same course last year and give it a try to cover more advanced materials this semester. Let's see how it goes.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This class is about contemporary architecture and will be taught in English. Each class will alternatively analyze a contemporary Japanese and foreign practice by studying a number of their projects. The objective is to understand a variety of design strategies and to draw similarities between Japanese and foreign architects.

【到達目標】

This class requires simple presentations and aims to encourage students to think conceptually. Students will form pairs and introduce a new project for each class. The goal is to acquire English presentation skills and to think about communicating ideas through drawings.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

People often think that "philosophy" is quite an old subject – and very difficult, unfortunately. It is true that philosophical questions have been discussed in rather complicated and often confusing manners since many years ago, for example, by Socrates and Aristotle in the ancient Greek period. But many philosophers believe that these questions are tightly related to our everyday life. We are surrounded by many philosophical issues, though we may not always be aware of their philosophical significances; that is, philosophical issues are basically our everyday issues. But how are they related to our life?

In this course, you will discuss various philosophical topics, their in-depth meanings, and their philosophical significances, trying to find their very relevance to your life. That may help you see your surroundings, your society and the world in quite exciting and interesting ways. Out of many philosophical topics found in our daily life, we will discuss 13 topics in class.

【到達目標】

This course provides a broad introduction to philosophical ways of thinking. The course is open to students from any disciplines, who hope to:

(1) understand some of the most fundamental philosophical topics (for instance: freedom, truth, and moral rightness /wrongness),

(2) be able to explain the issues in very simple everyday terms, and

(3) apply philosophical ways of thinking (reasoning) on every-day issues.

【授業の進め方と方法】

On enrollment:

The student enrollment in this course is limited to 20, and you will be admitted on a first-come and first-served basis. So, if you wish to take this course, you need to take an immediate action and do the following:

(1) You have to send me an e-mail (to the address below) expressing your intention to enroll:

yasushi.ishida.85@hosei.ac.jp

(2) When you are accepted to the class, you will receive a note (e-mail) of confirmation. If you are not accepted, you will be put on the waiting list in the order of application.

(3) Those who have received my note of confirmation can go through a procedure of 本登録.

・You will be accepted on a first-come and first-served basis. Equally importantly, I urge you to attend the first and/or second meeting.

In case you fail to attend both of them, that will affect your final grade (10%); if you have legitimate or good reason to miss the meetings, do not fail to contact me by e-mail.

・Those who are put on the waiting list can register, ONLY IF we have some vacancies in the enrollment AND the registration is still possible (that is, it is still in the registration period).

Organization of the class:

▶ Each class will consist of (less than)100-minutes of lecture and discussion. The class will be conducted in English.

▶ This year, due to the coronavirus situation, this course will be held online (by using Zoom), so please make sure you have the application ready in your computer along with necessary devices.

● On the Zoom meetings:

・ I will post the "Zoom Link," "授業参加用ミーティング ID" and "パスワード" on 学習支援システム by Tuesdays (the day before the class). You will have to sign in with your own Hosei University mail address and password.

・ Your attendance will be recorded automatically, but I may take attendance.

・ In case someone comes in one of the online classes to do any disturbing acts (which is often called Zoom-Bombing), I will terminate the meeting immediately. And I will report to the University. I will then post in 学習支援システム what you will have to do.

・ I appreciate interaction and exchange with you in class. So, please make best efforts to express your ideas, even if you find it very difficult to do so. I would NOT penalize you for making mistakes; you ARE entitled to make mistakes in class!

Basic course requirements:

* No previous philosophy courses required.

* Intellectual curiosity; Keen eyes on everyday-life facts and happenings.

* Respectful attitude of others' opinions.

6	Culture vs. Nature	How different are they?
7	Culture vs. Nature	The idea of enhancement
8	Love	What is it?: Just a perception?
9	Perception	What do we perceive?: Is it so accurate?
10	Knowledge vs. Beliefs	What do we know?: How do we know it is true?
11	Truth, Reality	What is really true?: Truth, Reality, Dream
12	Robots and Humans (Mind)	Is the Mind just the Brain? (Your "essay plan" must be submitted by the 12th meeting)
13	Language	What does it do?: What's its role?
14	Wrap-up: The Meaning of Life	Concluding remarks (Your "essay plan" will be returned)

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

・ I recommend that you review what you have learned in each meeting.

・ You are normally expected to spend about two hours for the preparation and review for each class.

・ You will have to submit your paper topic ("essay plan") by the 12th class meeting.

【テキスト（教科書）】

・ There will be no specific textbooks assigned.

・ Occasionally, reading materials may be assigned and handouts will be given in class.

【参考書】

No specific books assigned. But looking into any (large size) philosophy dictionaries will be of great help.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

I will assess your grade based on the way you participate in the class discussions and on your final project.

Attitude/ Participation: 40% of course grade

Final Project (a paper): 60% of course grade

*Attitude/ Participation:

I appreciate your participation in class and would like to know your ideas and opinions. I will hence consider your participation as part of your grade.

*Final Project:

At the end of the semester, you are expected to submit a short paper (of 700 to 1000 words) on the topic that you choose, explaining your ideas or insights. Your topic should be related to the issues studied or discussed in class. I will give you a specific Guideline before the end of semester.

▶ Near the end of the semester, you will have to submit your "essay plan," which should include the title (topic) of your paper and your (tentative) conclusion described in a short paragraph (of about 200 words): Note that it is NOT a draft of your final paper. You will receive my comments on your paper plan, and then your plan should be re-organized or revised accordingly.

▶ In writing your paper, you can expand your ideas by citing or referring to books and other documents, including materials from websites. In that case, you MUST explicitly show the sources or reference either in the footnotes or endnotes. (Do NOT cite or refer to Wikipedia in your paper. If you do so, you will receive a "D" grade.)

▶ Plagiarism: If you copy sentences from any existing documents (again, including any writings from websites) without showing sources or reference, you will receive a "D" grade. It is important that you present your own view or insights, not the same ideas as described or explained in published or preexisting documents or on websites.

▶ You have to submit your paper (essay) on the web system (Class Support System, 授業支援システム). The due date will be announced near the end of the semester.

Based on the grading criteria set by the instructor, students that successfully achieve 60% or more of course goals will be able to earn a passing grade for the course.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

In previous semesters, I received several comments from students: for instance, "having discussions in class was very hard at the beginning, but it helped me improve my English speaking skills and express myself logically. Eventually, I found it quite exciting and stimulating."

【その他の重要事項】

・ I urge you to attend the first and/or second meeting. In case you fail to attend both of them, that will affect your final grade (10%); if you have legitimate or good reason to miss the meetings, do not fail to contact me by e-mail.

・ As I appreciate interaction and exchange with you in class, I would like to know what you think and have your feedback. So, I strongly advise that you attend all the classes and participate in the discussions.

・ Philosophy is different from a philosophy. "Philosophy" is the discipline that comprises logic, metaphysics, ethics, epistemology, etc.; on the other hand, "a philosophy" is a system of beliefs, concepts, or attitude of an individual or a group. Everyone has a philosophy of some sort, even if he/she has never read a philosophy book. An individual's philosophy can be a subject for examination and discussion in philosophy class.

【Outline and objectives】

People often think that "philosophy" is quite an old subject – and very difficult, unfortunately. It is true that philosophical questions have been discussed in rather complicated and often confusing manners since many years ago, for example, by Socrates and Aristotle in the ancient Greek period. Students will learn anthropological approaches for interpreting issues regarding religions, societies, and the relationships between them. This course will not be centered on theological discussions, details of religious teachings, or categories of religions. Instead, we will focus on how people practice religion, how they relate themselves to it, and, ultimately, how religions are related to society.

【到達目標】

Students will:

-Understand basic anthropological approaches to religion.

-Improve their interest in and ability to understand 'others' as familiar existences through comparative perspectives.

-Acquire the ability to reflect on themselves with the help of 'others', and unfamiliarize the familiarized.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

English Application is an integrated 4-language skill communication course with a focus on an English for Academic Purposes (EAP) or English for Specific Purposes (ESP) content area. This course will examine certain cultural phenomena that impact our lives. Emphasis throughout this course will be on the notion of 'possibility' – the exercise of looking beyond mere appearance. The notion of 'possibility' will be used to explore three major themes – art, rebellion, and market advertising. Each theme will be explored through short authentic readings, visual material, and music CDs, all of which will be used to set the groundwork for group discussions and an exchange of viewpoints.

【到達目標】

The goal of English Application is to give Post-SA students a forum to continue to use and enhance their English Communication skills. This course is designed to improve students' critical thinking ability by challenging their belief systems while examining three cultural phenomena – art, rebellion and advertising.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

English Application is an integrated 4 skills communication skills course with a focus on an English for Academic Purposes (EAP) or English for Specific Purposes (ESP) content area. This course will explore the history of tourism and its continued expansion in a constantly globalizing world. All third and fourth-year students in the Faculty of Intercultural Communication have some experience with International Travel and living in a Foreign Country through their Study Abroad experience, which is an Intercultural Communication Activity sometimes described as Cultural or Educational Tourism.

【到達目標】

The goal of English Application is to give Post-SA students a forum to continue to use and enhance their English Communication skills. The theme of this English Application course is to explore how the world continues to become increasingly interconnected due to better communication systems and increasing opportunities for international travel. It will also examine how more people around the world are experiencing interactions with people from different countries and cultures, i.e., directly experiencing Intercultural Communication through tourism.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The Culture, Language, and Thought of the English-Speaking World is the product of many historical interactions between a variety of peoples with different ways of thinking and living in the world. To understand many aspects of the societies in the modern English-Speaking World, one must first recognize the historical forces that shaped them and brought them about.

【到達目標】

The primary goal of this course is to give students the basic knowledge necessary to understand: 1) how societies and cultures change in general and 2) how the cultures of the English-Speaking World developed their unique forms. Using the framework of cultural change, we will examine the formation of “Western” religious and political institutions that developed before 1500 CE in order to better appreciate the roots of “Western” social, political, and economic thought. Building on this foundation, the evolution of modern social systems and political-economic thought that occurred in the English-Speaking World after 1500 CE will be discussed.

【授業の進め方と方法】

The course will start out by outlining the forces behind cultural change. This will be followed by a series of lectures discussing the development of European political and religious institutions following the Ancient Greco-Roman era. We will then attempt to analyze Britain's rather unique political & economic institutions at the beginning of the modern era as a product of cultural change. Building on this foundation, the cultural changes, i.e., the changes in thought, caused by the Protestant Reformation and Enlightenment Philosophy will be examined and their impact on the development of British and American Political-Economic Systems through the 19th and 20th Centuries will be discussed. Students will receive feedback and comments on homework assignments and in class activities throughout the term.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Towards the end of this course, students will be able:

1. to study the history of the English language, which, good or bad, has become an 'international language' in our modern world; and
2. to develop a general interest in the language itself through doing a lot of reading.

【到達目標】

1. To get a general idea how the English language has evolved,
2. To try to explain various apparent 'mysteries' of English in historical terms,
3. To begin to develop a general theory of linguistic change,
4. To study English in its general sense. (You see, you must keep that level of English acquired through your SA experience!)

【授業の進め方と方法】

Actual class sessions are all based on the Powerpoint slides (More than 200 slides in all!) all prepared beforehand. So, in order to make the most of them you should:

- download and print out the slides and skim over them;
- attend the class w/the printed-out slides, concentrate on the contents of the lecture, and take as many notes as you can;
- visit our Learning Management System (LMS) site and check the comments made by the instructor; and
- read the books/articles mentioned on the LMS site for further comprehension.

Please note that feedbacks to the lecture contents will be amply given on the LMS site. After each class session given, the detailed review articles will be given on the web; so please make the most of them.

Should you have any trouble in taking realtime online class session, you can get access to the recorded educational material. Please check the LMS site for details.

Students are expected to visit the relevant LMS site and get as much information as needed.

Admittedly, this is not an easy course with all those unfamiliar terms and concepts. So, it is strongly recommended to read the relevant materials suggested on the LMS site posted immediately after each class session by the instructor. Approximately two hours of preparation and reviewing are necessary for this course.

Suggested reading materials to enhance students' comprehension will be mentioned through LMS in due course. However, the following are worth reading prior to the opening of the course:

- Algeo, John (2010). The Origins and Development of the English Language. Sixth edition. Boston: Wadsworth. [Based on the original work of Thomas Pyles. Careful about special phonetic notations used.]
- Barber, Charles, Joan C. Beal, and Philip A. Shaw (2009). The English Language: A Historical Introduction. Second edition. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. [Offers clear explanations of linguistic ideas.]
- Bradley, Henry (1970). The Making of English. Tokyo: Seibido. [A bit out of date, but still a good introduction. Japanese translation available from Iwanami.]
- Schmitt, Norbert and Richard Marsden (2009). Why Is English Like That? Historical Answers to Hard ELT Questions. Ann Arbor: The University of Michigan Press. [A recent book; easy to read; written for English language teachers.]

【成績評価の方法と基準】

Please note that attendance is taken for granted. However, if you miss a class, the following rule is applied: 1 demerit for each class missed. 3 demerits = -10% on your grade (roughly one letter grade). 5 demerits = failure for the course.

- Final exam: 70%
- Project (if any): 30%

Any modification to the above shall be known to you by using LMS. Based on the grading criteria set by the instructor, students that successfully achieve 60% or more of course goals will be able to earn a passing grade for the course.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Overall, the instructor gets favourable comments from the students.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Using a personal computer is recommended, which enables you to get accustomed to make use of phonetic fonts as well as tree-drawing applications. Also, there are many interesting sites on the web which the instructor recommends you to visit.

【その他の重要事項】

In terms of its content, this course is the same as 「英語圏の文化 VIII (英語の歴史)」 taught in Japanese. Therefore, if you have obtained credits taking that course, you cannot obtain credits by taking this course.

This course is just a half-year (semestral) course about the history of the English language. Students are highly encouraged to study various matters not treated in class sessions.

Also, as is shown in Goals above, always having a strong interest in English per se is important. So, please study English hard and try to develop a 'feel' for the language.

【カリキュラム上の位置づけ】

Open for the third- and fourth-year FIC students (many of them probably being the SA-English students). Also open for non-FIC students. Appropriate for those who have strong interest in the English language and historical linguistics.

【Outline and objectives】

Towards the end of this course, students will be able:

1. to study the history of the English language, which, good or bad, has become an 'international language' in our modern world; and
2. to develop a general interest in the language itself through doing a lot of reading.

The Culture, Language, and Thought of the English-Speaking World is the product of many historical interactions between a variety of peoples with different ways of thinking and living in the world. To understand many aspects of the societies in the modern English-Speaking World, one must first recognize the historical forces that shaped them and brought them about.

【到達目標】

The primary goal of this course is to give students the basic knowledge necessary to understand: 1) how societies and cultures change in general and 2) how the cultures of the English-Speaking World developed their unique forms. Using the framework of cultural change, we will examine the formation of “Western” religious and political institutions that developed before 1500 CE in order to better appreciate the roots of “Western” social, political, and economic thought. Building on this foundation, the evolution of modern social systems and political-economic thought that occurred in the English-Speaking World after 1500 CE will be discussed.

【授業の進め方と方法】

The course will start out by outlining the forces behind cultural change. This will be followed by a series of lectures discussing the development of European political and religious institutions following the Ancient Greco-Roman era. We will then attempt to analyze Britain's rather unique political & economic institutions at the beginning of the modern era as a product of cultural change. Building on this foundation, the cultural changes, i.e., the changes in thought, caused by the Protestant Reformation and Enlightenment Philosophy will be examined and their impact on the development of British and American Political-Economic Systems through the 19th and 20th Centuries will be discussed. Students will receive feedback and comments on homework assignments and in class activities throughout the term.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The aim of this course is to consider structural aspects of the English language, which has become the de facto 'global' language. Towards the end of this course, students will be able to attain the following goals indicated below.

【到達目標】

1. To get a general idea about how English sounds and grammatical phenomena are described.
2. To obtain a certain level of knowledge about how various structural aspects of modern English SHOULD be described.
3. To obtain enough knowledge about modern English so as to answer various questions about the alleged 'mysteries' of the English language.
4. To study English in its general sense. (You see, you all finished your SA programmes, so you should keep that level of English until graduation.)

The following is the list of important topics (among others) to be covered in this course:

- a) articulatory organs and phonetic symbols,
- b) the notion of phoneme (introduction to structural linguistics),
- c) modular approach to linguistics,
- d) various units in linguistic description,
- e) syntactic categories (parts of speech),
- f) intermediate constituency, phrase structural analysis

Class sessions are going to be held online. The basic schedule remains the same; however, schedule change, if any, will be notified by using the Learning Management System (LMS). The details of the methods will be provided by using the LMS by several days prior to the first class session.

Actual class sessions are all based on the Powerpoint slides (about 200 slides in all!) all prepared beforehand. So, in order to make the most of them you should:

- download and print out the slides and skim over them;
- attend the class w/the printed-out slides, concentrate on the contents of the lecture, and take as many notes as you can;
- visit the LMS site, and check the comments made by the instructor; and
- read the books/articles mentioned on the LMS site for further comprehension.

Should you have any trouble in taking realtime online class session, you can get access to the recorded educational material. Please check the LMS site for details.

Students are expected to visit the relevant H'etudes site and get as much information as needed.

Admittedly, this is not an easy course with all those unfamiliar terms and concepts. So, it is strongly recommended to read the relevant materials suggested on the LMS site posted immediately after each class session by the instructor.

Approximately two hours of preparation and reviewing are necessary for this course.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course is designed for students who are interested in the history of cultural exchanges from transnational perspectives. By exploring various kinds of cross cultural encounters facilitated by the movement of people, ideas, goods, services, capital, and technology, students will be introduced to the basic concepts and methods of transnational history.

【到達目標】

By the end of this course, students will be able to

● Understand various approaches to transnational history and how these approaches are connected to the issues of colonialism, the development of capitalism, and the formation and spread of the nation-state.

● Critically read and analyze both secondary scholarship and primary historical documents on transnational history.

● Write a short critical essay analyzing cross-cultural encounters and movements across borders.

【Outline and objectives】

This course is designed to be an overview of contemporary Japanese society, with a focus on the issues surrounding diversity and social sustainability. Throughout the term, we explore how we can understand Japanese society, by using various sociological concepts and making international comparisons. By engaging with critical issues in contemporary Japan, we will explore the ways in which the society can achieve a sustainable system and culture both within the country as well as a member of the international community.

【Goal】

Through this class, you will be expected to critically engage with both scholarly discussions as well as media portraits on Japanese culture and society, and demonstrate your understanding through your assignments, individual project, and participation in class.

【Outline and objectives】

Sociology of Gender and Families

The family is one of the most important social institutions that everyone in society is familiar with. Because of the familiarity, however, we often lack critical perspectives on the issues pertaining to the family. We will challenge typically taken-for-granted notions of the family by considering it from a sociological point of view. We will do so by highlighting the ways in which gender plays a critical role in shaping our experiences, identity, as well as relationship to others.

【Goal】

While focusing on families in contemporary Japan, this course will take a historical and comparative perspective to highlight diversity and transformation of families, both within and outside Japan. By investigating both public policies and private dynamics, we aim to deepen our understanding of, and gain critical perspectives on the family.

Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. identify and critically engage with social issues pertaining to the family and gender;
2. understand the connection between individual experiences in family and broader socio-historical contexts; and
3. discuss issues surrounding the family and gender with a comparative perspective.

【Outline and objectives】

This course offers students opportunities to acquire knowledge and skill to analyze the role of businesses to contribute to global sustainability. There is growing expectation for businesses to play more important roles to solve global problems such as climate change, poverty and various forms of inequalities as governments alone cannot solve these problems anymore. Businesses are uniquely positioned to work with their stakeholders to reduce negative impact across their value chains and deliver high-impact business solutions to the challenging sustainability issues. Through this course, students will learn various cases of global companies' efforts on sustainability, how they are creating shared value (CSV) and realizing sustained growth.

【Goal】

- (1) Understand the basic functions of companies including corporate/business strategy, organization, marketing, finance, and human resources.
- (2) Understand various topics and theories related to business and sustainability
- (3) Analyze actual business cases with analytical frameworks students learn in class.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

【Outline and objectives】

Though the meaning of Global Human Resources (GHR) varies from company to company and even among the professionals, it usually connote people who have an ability including a foreign language(s) proficiency and experiences to work in the international arena. Students will learn what the GHR is dealt with by companies at the time of recruitment and promotions after they started working.

【Goal】

This class aims to help students to learn why the GHR has been actively discussed in Japan in the past 10 years or so. Based on that, the class will help students, if they so wish, understand what they should do to work beyond the border of a country. However, the class will focus on GHR at Japanese companies.

【Which item of the diploma policy will be obtained by taking this class?】

Among diploma policies, "DP3" is related

【Method(s)】

This class will take up various topics concerning GHR, including topics such as education at schools and universities to cope with globalization, mobility of people between countries and employment of people with different cultural backgrounds. The class will be run in the form of lecture with active participation of students in the discussion. Feedback on assignments submitted by students will be provided in class or through the Learning Management System.

Please note that the teaching approach may vary according to which threat level we are at. The details will be announced through the Learning Management System.

Week 1	What is GHR?	What GHR is will be broadly discussed in the first session focusing on what is going on in Japan in terms of employment and globalization.
Week 2	The economy moving towards globalization	As a basis of GHR, students will look at the globalization of economy and young people's move across the border of countries. Here students will have a brief look at what is going on in the EU, English speaking countries and other parts of the world.
Week 3	Japanese employment practices (1)	Before getting into the discussion about GHR, it will be briefly reviewed what characterizes the Japanese employment practices to understand the Japanese situation.
Week 4	Japanese employment practices (2)	Students will learn the way of job seeking by university students in Japan. The way that the Japanese companies recruit new school leavers and university graduates is said very different compared with that of other countries.
Week 5	Quick move to GHR in Japan	The Japanese Government has been pushing educational institutions and companies towards globalization in the past 15 years or so. Why and how?
Week 6	Policies of employer organizations and companies, Japanese case	The policies of employer organizations and individual companies on GHR in Japan will be discussed. To the extent that the Japanese employment system is different from other countries, it sees difficult to change it and adapt to what is going on under the name of globalization.

Week 7	Education towards globalization (1)	The lecture will look at the development of GHR at schools including education at ordinary schools, international schools and international baccalaureate schools.
Week 8	Education towards globalization (2)	Students will learn what Japanese universities have been doing for the development of GHR in the past years?
Week 9	International students and their employment (1)	The employment of Japanese students who studied overseas including kikokusei (returned children) will be examined.
Week 10	International students and their employment (2)	The employment of overseas students who are studying in Japan will be examined. In 2019, the Japanese government took a step towards the employment of more non-Japanese people in the face of labour shortage.
Week 11	World race for talent and studying overseas	Universities all over the world are involved in the race for talent and young people are studying and finding a job across the border of a country. Such a trend will be considered.
Week 12	Presentation by students (1)	Students will make a presentation on their future career plan or their essay topics.
Week 13	Presentation by students (2)	Students will make a presentation on their future career plan or their essay topics.
Week 14	Final examination or submission of a final essay.	The final examination will be held or a final essay of 3,000 words will be submitted. Comments will be made about the examination or a final essay.

【Work to be done outside of class (preparation, etc.)】

Students should read in advance handouts and other reading materials provided in class and make clear what they cannot understand and should be ready to ask questions or make comments about them. Preparatory study and review time for this class are 2 hours each.

【Textbooks】

No specific textbook is used, but various handouts and reading materials will be provided in class.

【References】

Some reference books will be introduced in the first session.

【Grading criteria】

Assessment will be made based on either a final examination or an essay (70%). Consideration will also be taken into short exams and/or presentations (20%) which may be conducted in class and participation in class discussion (10%).

【Changes following student comments】

Reading materials in advance is strongly recommended so that students can better understand the lecture.

【Equipment student needs to prepare】

Nothing.

【Others】

Students who may take this subject must attend the first session. If they are not native speakers of English, they must bring the results of English language proficiency tests such as TOEFL, TOEIC, Eigo-kentei Shiken or other similar tests in the first class.

Please note that this is a SCOPE subject. So, in case of the number of applicants becoming more than 15, priority will be given to SCOPE students and some sort of selection may be made for the other students.

Business Communication

Masaatsu TAKEHARA

Term：春学期授業/Spring | Credit(s)：2 | Day/Period：木 5/Thu.5 | Campus：市ヶ谷 / Ichigaya | Grade：1~4
Notes：

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【Outline and objectives】

Effective communication is critical to our successful life and careers. But the question is “How can we become an effective communicator?” In this course, we will be aiming to be effective communicators by understanding the following three topics:

(1) Effective communication with a focus on others

When we want to be a good communicator, learning how to speak and write clearly is not enough; it is important for us to improve our ability to connect with others. The ability to truly connect with others is the key to building good relationships and improving our communication. In this course, we will learn how to communicate effectively by focusing, not on our own perspective, but on the perspective of others and their interests.

(2) Understand cultural differences

Understanding cultural differences of people we communicate with is also very important for effective business communication. In this course, we will learn a model called “The Culture Map” and decode how cultural differences impact international business communication.

(3) Understand unconscious bias

In this course, we also learn about unconscious bias. Unconscious bias refers to a bias that we are unaware of, and which happens outside of our control. Unconscious bias happens by our brains making quick judgments and assessments of people and situations without us realizing. Our biases are influenced by our background, cultural environment and personal experiences. Increasing numbers of global companies are introducing in-company education programs on unconscious bias because it could be a potential obstacle for their business unless they effectively address it. In this course, we have a basic understanding about unconscious bias and learn how to deal with it.

【Goal】

We aim at achieving the following goals:

- (1) Learn basic methodologies for effective business communication with a focus on others
- (2) Understand cultural differences in communication with “the Culture Map”
- (3) Have basic understanding about unconscious bias and how to cope with it.

[Outline and objectives]

"Human and Environment" is an introductory course to learn anthropological theories and discussions on a variety of subjects with regard to human-environment relations.

Through examining anthropological perspectives on the environment, this course will also discuss how environmental subjects are connected to broader socio-cultural issues, such as development, globalization, gender, poverty, and disasters.

[Goal]

The goal of this course is NOT to teach solutions to environmental problems, but rather to provide tools to think critically about human-environment relations.

【Outline and objectives】

This course focuses on the understanding of environment and society as an integrated system. The course explores the theory of social-ecological systems, and with this theoretical underpinning, we will learn about different aspects of environment and society interactions. We will particularly focus on the role of human agency and its present and possible future roles for the state of the earth.

The course is roughly divided into two parts: (1) problems associated with the environment and society and (2) solutions toward more sustainable human-environment relationships.

【Goal】

At the end of the course, students will develop a good understanding of the main arguments related to environment and society relations from different case studies. These arguments include some of the classic environmental problems in our time, such as loss of biodiversity, climate change, water-energy-food nexus, environmental pollution, and diseases. The students will learn about efforts of conservation, and policies that strive to reduce human impact on the earth's natural systems that we need for our own survival.

【Outline and objectives】

As the global economy is becoming increasingly integrated and interdependent, the relationship between business and society is becoming more complex. Corporate management has been significantly impacted by the globalization of business, increasing new regulations, international accords such as the Paris Agreement and SDGs, and the emergence of civil society organizations. Under these situations, businesses today are expected to integrate social and environmental aspects into corporate management and achieve sustained growth. In this course we will learn various topics related to business and society, and understand necessary conditions for businesses to achieve sustained growth.

【Goal】

Students are aiming at the following goals:

- (1) Understand the basic functions of companies including corporate/business strategy, organization, marketing, finance, and human resources.
- (2) Understand various topics and theories related to business and society
- (3) Analyze actual business cases with analytical frameworks students learn in class.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

In today's globalization, we are increasingly required to interact internationally across linguistic and cultural borders. Misunderstandings and conflicts are bound to occur, which calls for constructive dialogues and creative solutions. In this course, we will focus primarily on "invisible culture" to deepen your understanding of diversity in cultural orientations, values, behavior, and language uses. You will also reflect on your intercultural experiences and explore your multicultural identities while studying dynamic cultural dimensions.

【到達目標】

In this course, you will 1) cultivate your understanding of the relationships between culture and identity, 2) be able to analyze examples of and reasons for intercultural clashes and relate to others respectfully to come up with constructive solutions to intercultural issues and confusions, 3) be able to use concepts such as stereotypes, generalizations, othering, and marginalization in your analysis, 4) reflect on your intercultural experiences and multicultural identities.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

From the middle of the nineteenth century, more and more Japanese people traveled abroad hoping to learn new knowledge from foreign countries. On the other hand, some people came to Japan from Europe, North America, and Asia with various purposes, such as business, diplomacy, evangelism, and education. Why and how did these people decide to travel from/to Japan? What did they learn from foreign cultures? What did they bring back to their home countries? This course offers students an opportunity to discuss these questions and explore the struggles and achievements of pioneering historical figures who crossed the borders and received rich experiences in foreign countries.

【到達目標】

Students will be familiarized with the nature and methods of history.

Students will gain basic knowledge on modern and contemporary Japanese history from a global perspective.

Students will develop their skills for reading, presenting, and writing through historical documents.

【授業の進め方と方法】

Based on the assigned readings and the instructor's lectures, students will discuss various topics on modern and contemporary Japanese history from a global perspective.

Students are expected to read the assigned materials before a class and to actively contribute to the class discussion. Students are also expected to give one presentation and to write one essay on a historical figure whom students choose.

All the assigned documents are written in English, and discussion, presentation, and writing are conducted in English. Knowledge of Japanese history and the Japanese language will be helpful, but it is not required.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Without cultural knowledge, language users may not fully understand the meaning of a message. Even with perfect grammar, we could completely offend our conversational partners without using language in a culturally suitable manner. In this course, we will take a close look at the face-saving strategies used in world languages. We will also consider and discuss diverse cultural values and orientations that are closely connected to verbal and non-verbal behavior. Enhanced linguistic and cultural awareness will help you become a more tactful and respectful user of your first and second languages and prepare you for effective intercultural communication.

【到達目標】

In this course, you will become able to 1) cultivate your understanding of the relationship between language form, meaning, and context, 2) become familiar with the notions of face and politeness, 3) collect and analyze authentic language samples, 3) understand cultural values and orientations behind language use in world languages. The course will also provide an opportunity for you to reflect on intercultural misunderstandings and respectful communication strategies with which to relate to others.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Have you learned an additional language through music, film, poetry, stories, novels, or any other forms of art? What was your experience like? In this course, we start by discussing why art facilitates learning, especially second language acquisition. You will then experience various forms of art incorporated into language learning and teaching through the modeling by the instructor as well as through peer teaching. We are also going to discuss social activism expressed through artwork and research activism in the world.

【到達目標】

In this course, you will: 1) understand and appreciate artistic forms of language education, 2) understand social activism behind artistic expression, 3) be able to analyze the relevance of the social issues to the present-day world of globalization, and 3) participate in an art-based approach to language learning/teaching using your creativity. You will also reflect on your own reactions to an artistic approach to language education and social justice and consider how this learning may influence your values, identities and worldview.

Message to the course participants:

This is a relatively new course that opened in the spring of 2019. We had fascinating discussion and both students and I learned a great deal! This course is conducted in English. Students must be competent speakers of English (native or proficient with TOEFL® iBT 61+ or equivalent). If your scores are TOEFL® iBT 61 - 100, you can take this course but be ready to make a little more thorough preparation each week.

If you are interested in current issues, you're an excellent fit for this class. If you are more of a learner who likes the fun of language and art, you are also welcome. I expect international and Japanese students of all majors to work collaboratively despite their different cultural and linguistic backgrounds. Come with an open mind and learn from each other!

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The goal of this class is to learn about the history and culture of French speakers living in the Canadian province of Quebec. Students will look at the very diverse cultural production of Quebec writers, intellectuals, and filmmakers from the 1960s to the present day. The class will focus on one important keyword in order to understand Quebec society and culture: the concept of sovereignty.

 This class will be conducted online.

【到達目標】

Students will learn the basic theories surrounding the political concept of sovereignty. Then, they will apply these theories in order to better understand Quebec literature and films. They will be able to develop a critical approach to literary and film analysis that takes into account the cultural specificity of Quebec as well as its place in wider debates concerning political independence, minority language and intercultural communication.

回	テーマ	内容
1	Introduction to Quebec society from the 1960s	This class will be a survey of Quebec history from the Quiet Revolution to the present day.
2	Introduction to the concept of sovereignty	Students will learn about the concept of sovereignty through analysis of canonical texts.
3	Criticism regarding the concept of sovereignty and nationalism	We will look at the main criticism against sovereignty and nationalism as well as their impact on Quebec nationalist movement.
4	The importance of French language as the foundation of Quebec identity	We will try to understand why French is the cornerstone of Quebec identity.
5	Hockey, French language, and religion	We will watch and analyze a short film based on a novella by Roch Carrier: The Hockey Sweater

6	Personal sovereignty and political sovereignty	We will read and analyze excerpts from a novel by Hubert Aquin: Next Episode
7	Referendum and independence	We will look at the cultural production surrounding the first (1980) and second (1995) Quebec Referendum.
8	Post-referendum identity crisis	We will read and analyze songs and poems, as well as essays about the Referendum.
9	Immigration, identity, and interculturalism	We will look at the different steps taken by the Quebec government to create an inclusive society, and how it conflicts to a certain extent with the idea of sovereignty.
10	Current debates surrounding immigration and interculturalism	We will look at essays and opinion pieces written about immigration in Quebec.
11	Feminism in Quebec	Students will learn about the history of the feminist movement in Quebec.
12	Literature and migration	We will read a text by Kim Thuy and look at the situation of refugees in Quebec.
13	Literature and Quebec migration	We will read a text by Marco Micone.
14	Quebec and cinema	We will watch and analyze a film by Pierre Falardeau.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

Students will be asked to read a series of texts by French writers and intellectuals in English translation. They will have to write short commentaries about the texts. Also, they will have to watch short films produced in Quebec. Preparatory study and review time for this class are 2 hours each.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The objective of this course is to provide students with a brief survey of Japanese culture, covering both traditional and modern aspects. It also aims to raise students' awareness of the Japanese culture as well as their own, which will promote a better intercultural communication with local people. Classes will consist of lectures and various activities, including discussions, reaction paper writing, and student presentations.

【到達目標】

At the end of this course, the students are expected to have a clearer and deeper understanding of Japanese culture and people, which eventually facilitates intercultural communication with Japanese people.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

The UN 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, or Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) have come to be recognized as common tasks for the human society, which is, in a way, a manifestation of the severity of various problems we as a species are faced with. In light of this current situation, this course focuses on the concept of "sustainability" so as to provide students with an opportunity to learn about basic scientific aspects of environmental problems and also to learn about relevant social issues in an attempt to provide a view from a wider perspective.

【到達目標】

This course is designed to teach about ecological and social issues. Therefore, the course objectives are 1) to understand basic scientific concepts required to comprehend various environmental problems, 2) to understand social problems related to the environmental problems dealt with in this course, and 3) to form personal perspective and opinion about the current state of human society by understanding the interrelated nature of the environmental and socioeconomic problems.

各学部のディプロマ・ポリシーのうち、以下に関連している。経営学部：DP3、人間環境学部：DP2

【授業の進め方と方法】

Although this course deals with various topics from the perspective of "sustainability", the course is divided roughly into two parts. In the first part, students will learn about the basic features of ecosystem and biodiversity, that is to say, the natural world that surrounds us and provides us with essential resources. The second part will focus on environmental and social problems related to agriculture (food production) and use of other natural resources in order to explore our personal involvement in these issues.

The course will be taught mainly in lecture-style classes, however, there will also be opportunities for students to actively participate in class through, for example, group activities and discussion. In addition to in-class interactions, students will utilize the learning assistance system (Hoppii) to express their opinions/reactions and to submit questions regarding the materials presented in each class so as to help the instructor to grasp students' progress as well as to address their concerns, as needed. Note that, if the university's action policy level is set to 2, in principle, this class will be taught online via zoom. Details will be announced via the "Hosei portal to pick up information (Hoppii)".

Week 1	Understanding sustainability and basic features of ecosystem	As an introduction to the course, the concept of sustainability and the basic features of ecosystem will be discussed.
Week 2	Atmospheric changes and their consequences	In light of the ongoing "climate crisis", the composition of the Earth's atmosphere and consequences of atmospheric changes will be discussed.
Week 3	Water cycle and the use of water resource	Water will be focused as an essential matter for sustaining life and ecosystem, and the water cycle and use of water resource will be discussed.
Week 4	Energy supply	Energy supply in ecosystem and energy issue in the human society will be discussed.
Week 5	What is "soil"?	The importance of soil in an ecosystem will be discussed in relation to ongoing environmental problems
Week 6	What is biodiversity and why is it important?	Basic features and current state of biodiversity will be discussed in relation to its importance for the human society.
Week 7	Applied ecology for sustainable resource management	Group activity is used to integrate the concepts learned in the previous lectures and apply them to ecological problem solving.
Week 8	Ecological issues of modern agriculture	Positive and negative impacts of agricultural modernization will be discussed.
Week 9	Food production and environmental conservation	Approaches to achieving food security without degrading environment will be discussed with concrete examples.
Week 10	Is resource development sustainable?	Focusing on mineral resources, issues related to demand and supply of natural resources will be discussed.
Week 11	Consequences of "unwanted" development	Environmental and social problems caused by "development" in the developing world will be discussed.
Week 12	Understanding multi-stakeholder problem solving	Group work will be used to integrate the concepts learned in the previous lectures and apply them to socio-ecological problem solving.
Week 13	Toward a sustainable society	Alternative models that may help build a sustainable society will be discussed.
Week 14	What is happening in the global environment and where do we go from here?	The course contents will be reviewed to grasp the current state of the global environment, and future prospects will be discussed.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

Students are expected to review contents of individual lectures, thoroughly read distributed reading materials, and utilize the online learning support system as needed. Standard amount of time to be spent for this purpose are two hours each for preparation and review.

【テキスト（教科書）】

None. Reading materials will be distributed as needed.

【参考書】

To be announced as needed.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

Student performance will be graded based on quizzes (40%), a final assignment (40%), and participation (20%). Quizzes will be used to evaluate understanding of course materials (Course objectives 1 and 2). The final assignment will be an opportunity for students to demonstrate their understanding of the course material by presenting their personal analysis/opinion about the current state of human society (Course objective 3). Participation will be used to evaluate student performance in each class and in-class activities.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Although it is not always possible to strike a good balance between lecture and active student participation, additional efforts will be made to make the course more participatory.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Students will need to secure access to Hoppii. Students will also need to be able to participate in online class, as needed.

This class is comprised of 8 lectures and 6 practical lessons; however, this may be changed due to the situation of COVID-19 and the university guidelines. Currently this class is planned to be held offline (face to face), therefore, please follow the university guidelines carefully when you participate in classes (e.g. sanitizing your hands prior to participation). If you have any difficulty to participate due to the situation of COVID-19, please inform the teacher as soon as possible in order to participate online.

Also, Due to the coronavirus pandemic, if there are too many students registered for this class, we may have to choose students via random selection in order to avoid a large group gathering. Further details of this will be announced through Hoppii before the first lesson starts.

When reaction papers are submitted by students, the teacher will comment or give feedback on those reaction papers at the beginning of the next session.

【その他の重要事項】

- 1) Since classes are taught in English, students need to have a certain level of English proficiency. We welcome students who challenge to overcome the language barrier.
- 2) If the class is offered online, the learning support system will provide information about the change in the online lesson method, lesson plan, and grade evaluation method each time. Please regularly check to see if the instructor has contacted you through the learning support system.

【Outline and objectives】

This class is a part of the group of English based global open classes, which aims at giving students chances of global experience. Students can acquire comprehensive introductory knowledge and insight on the important fields in computer science and information.

Introduction to Multimedia Information Processing

周 金佳

開講時期：春学期授業/Spring

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Recently, multimedia information (video, image, audio, etc.) covers from everyone's experiences to everything happening in the world. This course will introduce the basic principles and tools used to process digital images, videos and audios, and how to apply them in solving practical problems.

【到達目標】

The students will get to understand the key concepts and techniques in multimedia information processing. As a result, they will acquire background knowledge necessary to undertake advanced courses on image processing, video processing, wireless communication and information security, etc.

【授業の進め方と方法】

Most homework assignments will on open problems without standard answers. The students will be encouraged not only to learn the knowledge but also to think about how it can be used.

The learning support system will be used to submit reports and get feedback from the lecturer.

Classes could be online. Changes in the lecture plan due to this shift will be announced on the learning support system.

Introduction to Biology and Chemistry for Sustainability I

常重 アントニオ、緒方 啓典、高井 和之、大島 研郎、廣岡 裕吏

開講時期：春学期授業/Spring

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course gives a multidisciplinary overview of Bioscience and Applied Chemistry, and how they contribute to a progressive yet sustainable society. Faculty members of three departments: Frontier Bioscience, Chemical Science and Technology, and Clinical Plant Science, will present in an easy-to-understand manner how their respective fields are contributing to the improvement of both humankind and nature.

【到達目標】

The foremost goal of this course is to get the enrolled student acquainted with an introductory course delivered in English that demands active participation. In addition, through this course, the student will acquire a basic knowledge of Bioscience and Applied Chemistry, emphasizing the importance of coexistence between human beings and the environment, the crucial role of improving, expanding and renewing resources, in order to create a sustainable society for future generations.

2	Birth and evolution of the Earth (AT)	Beginnings and characteristics of the nascent planet. Theia and the birth of the moon. Proto-atmosphere.
3	Evolution of oxygen and water on Earth (AT)	Was oxygen ever present in the Earth atmosphere? Where did water come from? What about the elements?
4	Emergence of vestigial forms of life and the Big Mass Extinctions (AT)	The origin of life. The persistence of life. Periodic fluctuations in forms of life on Earth.
5	The concept of Gaia (AT)	What or who is Gaia? A simulation for the interrelationship between Biosphere and Lithosphere.
6	The Three Pillars (3BL) of Sustainability.	John Elkington's Triple Bottom Line for sustainable development. The need for an integrated approach.

7	Going from Linear to Circular.	Evolution of human society. The need for a sustainable development.
8	The many footprints of human development (AT)	What are they, and why it is so important to know what your values are. Is global warming real?
9	Exploitation of natural resources.	Production, consumption and pollution. Waste management. Recycle.
10	Genetically-modified organisms (GMO) (TA)	What are they? Concerns and safety. The Importance of being discriminating.
11	Solar energy and photovoltaic cells (HO)	In this lecture, basic principles of solar cells are studied. The new semiconductor materials for photovoltaic applications and the recent progress of the research on next-generation photovoltaics are surveyed.
12	Chemical Science and Technology (KT)	Materials chemistry based on 2D materials towards a sustainable society.
13	Clinical Plant Science (1) (YH)	Biological characteristics of fungi.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】

【本授業の準備・復習等の授業時間外学習は、4時間を標準とする】 Students are expected to review class materials. Further study on each topic is encouraged. Full participation of students as discussions is encouraged and will be graded.

【テキスト（教科書）】

Due to the nature of emerging technologies and the multi-disciplinary nature of the course, no textbook in particular is necessary, but important reference materials are listed below. Hand-outs will be distributed for each class, or made available in advance through the supporting system Hoppii.

【参考書】

Although not a textbook, "Life in the Universe", by Sagan, C., Gould, S.J., Minsky, M. & Weinberg, S. Scientific American, 1984
 "Gaia: A New Look at Life on Earth", by James Lovelock (Oxford Landmark Science, 2016), is recommended, since it covers several topics presented in class.
 "The Circular Economy", by Walter R. Stahel, Taylor and Francis Group, 2019.
 "Human Scale Development" (1989) Manfred Max-Neef et al. Development Dialogue.
 Other references for further study will be introduced in each class, and can be downloaded from the supporting system Hoppii.

【成績評価の方法と基準】

Grading will be assessed on the student's performance in each class, based on reports, active participation, presentations, and discussion.

【学生の意見等からの気づき】

Topics that required more attention have been expanded. The syllabus has been updated for 2021.

This is an Open-Global Course, and therefore, students from other campuses different from Koganei are also welcome to enroll. However, since class periods might differ according to the campus, some adjustments can be arranged.

Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, this course has been implemented since the year 2020 for real-time online delivery that allows attendance of students even from overseas locations. The same applies for the current year 2021. Should conditions permit, in addition to the online format, in-person classes can also be implemented in a hybrid format.

【学生が準備すべき機器他】

Laptop computers should be brought to class when needed. Some, if not most materials can be downloaded prior or during class.

【Outline and objectives】

This course gives a multidisciplinary overview of Bioscience and Applied Chemistry, and how they contribute to a progressive and sustainable society. Faculty members of three departments: Frontier Bioscience, Chemical Science and Technology, and Clinical Plant Science, will present in an easy-to-understand manner how their respective fields are contributing to the improvement of both humankind and nature.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Japan's economy witnessed a fast growth after world war II. But ever since 1989, Japan's imploding stock bubble threw the country into a deep financial crisis, resulting in the famous "lost decades". And the stagnation continues especially after the world economic crisis hit in 2008. This will be one-year course. In the 1st semester, we will mainly take a macroeconomic perspective, and look at the reality and problems of Japanese economy from 1980s in a big picture, such as economic growth, financial and monetary policies, "the lost decade" and Abenomics.

【到達目標】

The purpose of this course is twofold: to arouse the students' interest towards the happenings that are related to Japanese economy, in a globalized context; and to equip students with the basic knowledge to reasonably question the phenomenon during the process of Japan's globalization, from the standpoint of economics.

2	GDP, demand and supply, and other basic concepts	To understand the definition of GDP, equilibrium and other basic economic terms
3	Rise of Japanese economy after World War 2	How Japanese economy developed after the war
4	The growth engine and Japan's "economic miracle"	To explain the Japan's fast economic growth using growth theory
5	National savings and economic growth in Japan	How Japan's economic growth can be explained by national savings
6	Japan's financial policy	To introduce the basic fiscal policies of Japan, from the perspective of investment and savings (taxation, government expenditure)
7	Japan's monetary policy	To introduce the basic monetary policies of Japan (interest rate, money supply)

8	The lost decade (1)	How the bubble in Japan was formed?
9	The lost decade (2)	The burst of the bubble and the stagnation of the economy in Japan
10	Subprime loan and world financial crisis	How the world financial crisis was triggered by subprime loan problem (in comparison to Japan's bubble economy)
11	From inflation to deflation: does Abenomics work?	How deflation hurt Japan and three arrows of Abenomics
12	Appreciation of yen and balance of payment & Japanese economy	Introduction of exchange rate and how that affects the Japanese economy
13	Japan's labor market	Introduction of the history and trend from lifetime to "irregular" employment, from a macro perspective
14	Japan's energy economy and sustainable development	How Japan's energy economy and sustainable development have developed

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

We will discuss the globalization of economics from mainly two important perspectives: international trade and foreign direct investment (FDI). In the first half, we will investigate why countries trade, types of trade, and study some of the benefits and costs of trade. In the second half, we will study why firms choose the form of FDI, the determinants of FDI, the spillover impact of FDI on the host countries. Various policies that different governments implement to promote globalization will also be studied.

【到達目標】

The purpose of this course is twofold: to arouse the students' interest towards the happenings that are related to international economics; and to equip students with the basic knowledge to reasonably question the phenomenon during the process of globalization, from the standpoint of economics.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

After the second world war, Japan has followed a very distinct development path with unique economic policy choices and pragmatic state-led industrialization. This course intends to cover the influence of the Japanese economic model on remarkable patterns of development in South East Asia. Specifically, the course analyses the recent history of economic collaboration between Japan and ASEAN countries.

Each class consists of two parts: (1) lecture and (2) students' presentations of the assignment. At the end of the course, students are also required to submit a short report.

【到達目標】

- 1.Introduce the historical economic perspective about Japan and ASEAN
- 2.Impart macro-economic tools to understand and analyze economic development in the region

【この授業を履修することで学部等のディプロマポリシーに示されたどの能力を習得することができるか（該当授業科目と学位授与方針に明示された学習成果との関連）】

【授業の進め方と方法】

The class is designed to be:

- 1.Interactive: With a strong emphasis on student participation.
2. Up-to-date: With the real-time explanation of unfolding events.
3. Critical and Analytical: Understanding the whys and hows of the global economy.
4. Accessible: Breaking down the complex jargon in simple terms.

Each class consists of two parts: (1) lecture and (2) discussion. Active participation is required.

Two-Way Interaction:

Students will be able to partly design this course by participating in regular surveys and writing weekly posts on Hoppii. After the submission of each assignment, the instructor will give feedback or remedial explanation via an online forum and/or in the weekly session.

【Outline and objectives】

The focus of this course is on providing introductory knowledge of the Japanese economy and the business. The participants learn the implications of the policy decisions and their impact on the state of the economy. The course seeks to provide an understanding of the historical and institutional background of the contemporary Japanese economy.

We use a wide range of sources, covering academic literature, business case studies, and topical news items as well as op-ed pieces to understand the various aspects of Japanese business. Each class consists of two parts: (1) lecture and (2) students' exercises. In the second half of each lecture, students are expected to participate in various exercises. Exercises are followed by short class-discussion to develop the take-aways. Students are also required to take short quizzes.

English Drama I

GEORGE HANN

開講時期：春学期授業/Spring | 単位数：2 単位
曜日・時限：水 2/Wed.2

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This class aims to improve students' English listening and speaking abilities, as well as their ability to recognize and use non-verbal communication (NVC) strategies, through the use of short dramatic scenes and plays. Students will also learn acting techniques drawn from the Western drama tradition, including the Stanislavski, Meisner and Adler approaches.

【到達目標】

From the plays, students will gain a deeper understanding of the culture of English-speaking societies, and a greater ability to apply interaction rules with people from those societies. Students will also be able to make their English communication sound more "natural".

【授業の進め方と方法】

NOTE: Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, classes will be conducted entirely online (using Zoom Software).

The lesson cycle follows this flow:

1. Read the scene/play aloud (for pronunciation/intonation patterns etc.)
2. Script analysis (for character motivations, subtexts, etc.)
3. Assigning roles
4. Scene rehearsal
5. Performance.

After the performance, students in groups write original scenes based on themes and vocabulary from the given scene. They then perform their new scene the following week. Feedback will be in the form of annotated evaluations from the instructor, with points awarded for clarity, vocal and body dynamics, etc. There will also be short scene quizzes.

Topics in Comparative Culture

GEORGE HANN

サブタイトル：Comparative Culture

開講時期：春学期授業/Spring | 単位数：2 単位

曜日・時限：火 2/Tue.2

他学部公開： グローバル：○ 成績優秀： 実務教員：

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This class is for students who:

- 1) plan to study abroad in an English-speaking country
- 2) have returned to Japan after living in an English-speaking country
- 3) wish to learn more about world cultures

【到達目標】

This course has three goals: 1) to show students who will soon study abroad what to expect from a North American classroom environment; 2) to allow students returning from study abroad to maintain their English level; 3) to introduce students to current topics in cross-cultural communication and understanding.

【授業の進め方と方法】

NOTE: Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, classes will be conducted entirely online (using Zoom Software).

Each lecture is based on a reading which focuses on a subtopic within the field of Comparative Culture. Students will engage in group and class discussions on the topic. Students will also perform independent research on one of the lecture topics and make a team presentation of their findings.

Past topics have included (but are not limited to):

- Language and Culture
- Work and Leisure
- Religion and Spirituality
- Monocultures vs Multicultures
- Marriage and Family Structure
- Cultural Imperialism
- Sexuality

Feedback will be in the form of annotated evaluations of student presentations and research reports by the instructor.

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING:

1)THIS CLASS IS CONDUCTED ENTIRELY IN ENGLISH. Students with no confidence in their English listening or speaking skills should NOT take this class.

2)Students must arrive on time and participate fully. 2 consecutive lates = one absence. Students who miss 5 classes for any reason will automatically receive a failing grade.

【Outline and objectives】

This course is a survey of ancient to medieval Japanese literature. Major literary works are introduced with an emphasis on their literary artistry as well as their historical and cultural importance. Focus is also placed on the unique philosophy that shaped the aesthetic values in Japan throughout the centuries. This topic will be further highlighted by discussing differences in Eastern and Western world views and by introducing Okinawan poetry which displays unique features when compared with classical Japanese poetry.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course focuses on the major literary figures and their representative works of early modern, modern and contemporary Japanese literature. The works will be discussed with regard to the circumstances and background that shaped the authors' way of thinking. The course will also include a lesson introducing two significant works of medieval literature to shed light on one of the crucial concepts in Japanese culture - transience. There will also be a lesson introducing two major women poets of Okinawa.

【到達目標】

Goals:

1. to learn about the major literary figures of pre-modern, modern and contemporary Japanese literature
2. to gain an appreciation of the depth and atmosphere of their literary works as well as the beauty of the English translations

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course will seek to introduce the culture & society of contemporary Britain to students through a series of stimulating audio-visual units, together with selected thematically linked readings.

【到達目標】

During this course, through regular exposure to a variety of audio-visual material, students will have the opportunity to sharpen their listening skills. Follow-up pair-work comprehension questions, discussion & structured conversation practice will also give them the opportunity to improve their oral skills. Finally students will be encouraged to reflect on their own culture & society as they learn about UK.

【授業の進め方と方法】

The previous lesson's reading assignment will be reviewed before a pair-work preview will introduce the theme for that lesson. Any required vocabulary will be previewed before students view/listen to the material.

Pair-work comprehension questions will allow students to check their own understanding, while a post-viewing discussion will offer more chances to analyze the material. Time permitting, there will be structured conversation practice before outlining the following week's homework.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

Despite the rise of powers in Asia such as China & India, the US remains the pre-eminent global power and a key to understanding its prominence lies in an understanding of its rise as a superpower during the 20th century. Therefore, this course will focus on key political, economic & cultural developments during the latter half of that period, how they contributed to the rise of American power and continue to influence nations around the world, especially in Asia. Regular reading assignments will be set, analyzed & discussed during the lessons, allowing students to reflect on how the US continues to influence their nations as we enter a new century.

【到達目標】

Through a variety of media, this course seeks to firstly, give students a thorough understanding of key events in the US from the end of World War I to the close of the century. In addition, students will be able to comprehend how those events impacted not only on the course of modern US history, but their wider effect throughout the world, especially in the Asia-Pacific region.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course will provide students with a rough picture of law. It does so by introducing basic legal concepts.

The first part of the course introduces two main faces of law: justice and order. The second part focuses on the components of a legal order, which are mainly subjects and norms. The third and last part deals with the notion of legal relations, which are either horizontal or vertical in nature.

【到達目標】

By attending this course, students will be able to:

- understand basic legal concepts,
- build a foundation for studying more specialized fields of law,
- acquire basic legal knowledge that will complement their studies in other fields,
- handle better daily life situations by acquiring a feeling of what is legally correct and what is not, which will hopefully help them to remain free from abuses.

【授業の進め方と方法】

The course will introduce one new concept each week. In so doing, the class will consist in lecture and discussion. In addition, the course will rely on studying excerpts from classical works. Practice for this course will consist in text commentaries. Feedback by peers and the instructor on these assignments will be given in class.

The course follows a progression so that each class is dependent on previous classes; hence, students may find it easier to follow classes if they have consistent attendance.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

By what process are policies coordinated and actions concerted with regard to global issues? How and by whom are these processes organized and structured? Treating global governance as a process, this course examines how global governance functions at both international and regional levels through cases of Europe and East Asia. Henceforth, the course considers how these different levels of governance interact with regard to three different global issues and the policies built in response thereto in the two areas studied.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, students are expected to have acquired:

1. a good understanding of the structures and processes of global governance at both international and regional levels
2. a firm grasp of the diversity of actors involved in the global governance process
3. comprehension of the specific characters of global governance and corresponding issues and challenges

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course aims at providing students with an overview of the phenomenon, great in both scale and scope, styled 'international organizations' in its diversity and unity.

The course starts by focusing on the concept of international organization proper, and examines how these are inherently political societies wherein power happens and is organized according to certain structures. The course then moves on modalities for international organizations interacting with both each other and States, with a particular attention given to functions organizations perform amid the international society.

【到達目標】

By the end of the course, it is expected that students:

1. acquire a good understanding of the nature of international organizations
2. have a grasp of the common principles according to which international organizations operate
3. have a concrete knowledge of several international organizations
4. acquire a critical understanding of the roles and functions that international organizations perform amid the global society, as well as issues and challenges pertaining thereto

【授業の進め方と方法】

This class is comprised of 8 lectures and 6 practical lessons; however, this may be changed due to the situation of COVID-19 and the university guidelines. Currently this class is planned to be held offline (face to face), therefore, please follow the university guidelines carefully when you participate in classes (e.g. sanitizing your hands prior to participation). If you have any difficulty to participate due to the situation of COVID-19, please inform the teacher as soon as possible in order to participate online.

Also, Due to the coronavirus pandemic, if there are too many students registered for this class, we may have to choose students via random selection in order to avoid a large group gathering. Further details of this will be announced through Hoppii before the first lesson starts.

When reaction papers are submitted by students, the teacher will comment or give feedback on those reaction papers at the beginning of the next session.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

I use communicative English language pedagogy and classroom practices common in English as a Second Language (ESL) programs at universities in English-speaking countries. Students are expected to advance academic writing skills. Special emphasis will be placed on writing academic essays.

【到達目標】

The goal of the course is to develop students' ability to recognize the elements of academic essays in order to perform successfully in an all English-speaking university environment. Students will work on expanding on their general knowledge of pursuing a question with the systematic and rigorous process expected in an English-speaking academic context.

【授業の進め方と方法】

This is a Zoom-based online class. Every class is conducted in real-time. Please see HOPPII, the University's Learning Management System for details.

Feedback on class assignments will be provided by email and/or in one-on-one discussions between the lecturer and the student. Students may request additional feedback on class assignments at any time during the semester. Thirteen elements found in academic essays in English-speaking academia will be explored in depth. Students will be expected to not only participate in classroom activities, but also find and analyze information from various forms of English media independently and complete weekly homework assignments. Special emphasis will be given to a theoretical understanding of academic writing to lay the foundation for subsequent application in practice.

【授業計画】

回	テーマ	内容
One	Thesis: What question do you want to explore? Is it the kind of question that you can answer in one semester? Remember: A good question includes a hint of the answer.	This class uses a checklist for academic writing based on Gordon Harvey's Elements of the Academic Essay. You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template to the instructor at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.

Two	Motive: How did you choose your question, and why should it be interesting to other people?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Three	Evidence: What kinds of facts or examples will you use to support your thesis?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Four	Analysis: How do you explain the evidence you found?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Five	Keyterms: Have you explained the main terms and assumptions that you use in your essay?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Six	Structure: In general, are the sections in your essay in a logical order? Does your essay follow a storyline or roadmap?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Seven	Stitching: In particular, are there clear connections between the parts of your essay? For example, "In the previous section, ..." "In the next section, ..." and so on.	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Eight	Sources: What have other people written about your topic? Have you showed where you agree and disagree with other people's research, and have you acknowledged these people in the citations and references parts of your essay?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Nine	Reflecting: Have you presented and explained perspectives that contradict your perspective?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.

Ten	Orienting: Have you provided sufficient explanation for your readers to understand how you explored your topic and why you interpret the information as you do?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Eleven	Stance: Have you maintained a consistent style of communication with your readers from the beginning to the end of your essay?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Twelve	Style: Do you express your ideas in clear and simple terms?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Thirteen	Title: Does your title provide the right amount of information to make readers curious? Your title should give readers the general direction, but also make them want to know more.	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.
Fourteen	Based on the elements of academic essays that you have studied this semester, what question or problem would you choose for your essay?	You will receive a template, which you will use to write a paper of 200-400 words about the theme. You will email the template and your homework to the instructor by the end of class at: dylan.scudder.67@hosei.ac.jp.

【授業時間外の学習（準備学習・復習・宿題等）】
Preparation and review should be around one hour per week. Preparation (homework) is a reflection paper of 200-400 words each week. The paper is based on (1) your learning goals, (2) the challenges you are experiencing as you pursue your goals, (3) the approaches you are using to overcome these challenges and (4) your plans for your next steps. Similar to your classwork, you will write your homework using a template that I will give you. You will submit your homework together with your classwork by the end of each class.

【テキスト（教科書）】
No textbook required this semester.

【参考書】
Any recommended references will be provided during class.

【成績評価の方法と基準】
Note: In principle, no more than 3 absences per term are allowed. Assuming that students are absent 3 times or less, their performance will be graded as described below.
Classwork: 50%
Homework: 50%

All classwork is due at the end of each class. At the beginning of each class, I will remind you of the classwork assignment (also in the syllabus). You will submit the classwork to me by the end of each class using a classwork template that I will give you. You will write 200-400 words each class.

Homework is a learning journal based on (1) your goals, (2) the challenges you are experiencing as you pursue your goals, (3) the approaches you are using to overcome these challenges and (4) your plans for your next steps. Similar to your classwork, you will write your homework using a template that I will give you. You will submit your homework together with your classwork by the end of each class. Your homework each week will also consist of 200-400 words.

There are no points for incomplete or late assignments. In summary, if you complete all the classwork and the homework on time, you can expect a good grade.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course will help students to improve their ability to make presentations in English. Students will increase their confidence in English communication through researching, talking, reading, writing and presenting about a variety of personal, academic, business and cultural topics. Students will choose their presentation topics according to their own interests. Students will focus in particular on developing and explaining their topics in a clear and engaging manner. Students will make three presentations of about 5-10 minutes.

【到達目標】

You will become a better presenter. You will improve your ability to communicate in front of a group, including topic selection, generating ideas, organising, collecting supporting information, visual communication, consideration of your voice, and movement. You will have many opportunities to express your thoughts in a concise and logical manner. You will try various ways to make your opinions more persuasive.

【授業の進め方と方法】

This is an online class, and all weeks will be taught on Zoom and using Google Classroom. In this class, you will work in pairs, small groups and individually. You will research and collect information for your topics outside of class. You will organize and arrange your ideas, and prepare visual materials (using PowerPoint or poster paper) to accompany your presentation. Preparation is vital to participate fully and get the most from class time. In class, you will explain your research and ideas. This will enable you to become familiar with your topic and less reliant on a script. Additionally, you will have chances to find the points of interest that need more development, and the places in your work that need further re-thinking and reorganisation. You will also practise a number of important academic skills through listening and note-taking of your own and classmates' topics. These include identifying the key points, re-organising ideas, summarising and reconstructing partner's talks from your notes as well as giving critical feedback. You may be asked to prepare discussion questions related to your topic, and of course, must be ready to answer questions from the audience about your own work. Please come to class ready to participate actively and positively. You may sometimes record your presentations using easy editing software on your phone or PC to share with the class.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course is designed primarily to improve students' presentation skills and thereby to develop their integrative English language proficiency. In spring the goal is to acquire basic presentations skills, including how to organize a presentation, supporting arguments with evidence, effective use of visual aids, and aspects of delivery such as eye contact or gesture. In the fall semester, students will focus on persuasive/argumentative presentations on topics of contemporary concern. Students base their presentations on the basic patterns taught and learn to speak from notes. The class is conducted in English.

【授業の概要と目的（何を学ぶか）】

This course is designed primarily to improve students' presentation skills and thereby to develop their integrative English language proficiency. In spring the goal is to acquire basic presentations skills, including how to organize a presentation, supporting arguments with evidence, effective use of visual aids, and aspects of delivery such as eye contact or gesture. In the fall semester, students will focus on persuasive/argumentative presentations on topics of contemporary concern. Students base their presentations on the basic patterns taught and learn to speak from notes. The class is conducted in English.

【到達目標】

The goal of this course is to enable students to make effective presentations on a variety of topics. Students will learn to confidently deliver multimedia informative/descriptive speeches, as well as comparative, demonstrative and argumentative/persuasive presentations. Students will also learn to evaluate the quality and content of others' presentations, to take notes on presentation content, and to provide detailed feedback to help presenters to improve their presentation technique.
